The Struggle for Pakistan Ayesha Jalal, 2014-09-16 In a probing biography of her native land Ayesha Jalal provides a unique insider's assessment of how the nuclear armed Muslim nation of Pakistan evolved into a country besieged by military domination and militant religious extremism and explains why its dilemmas weigh so heavily on prospects for peace in the region

Power, Legitimacy, and World Order Sanjay Pulipaka, Krishnan Srinivasan, James Mayall, 2023-05-03 This book reflects on the reasons for the decline of international cooperation in world politics and studies ways to restore legitimacy in the international order. It engages with the concept of legitimacy in international relations theories and practices to examine the discussions around power shifts, the decline of liberalism, demands for inclusive international architectures and challenges to multilateralism as well as established norms by leaders and nationalisms. It studies the impact of the post COVID 19 world order on the nature of power in the international system and changes in normative concerns of security. The volume also interrogates political legitimacy through an area studies lens by examining the concept of legitimacy separately in the USA, Europe, South Asia, Southeast Asia, Latin America and Africa. An important and timely text featuring contributions from eminent scholars, this book will be of use to students and researchers of modern history, political science and international relations. It will also be of interest to think tanks and policy making bodies concerned with international affairs and foreign policy.

Sufi Shrines and the Pakistani State Umber Bin Ibad, 2018-12-21 After the creation of Pakistan in 1947, Sufi shrines became highly contested. Considered deviant and un-Islamic, they soon fell under government control as part of a state-led strategy to create an official, more unified Islamic identity. This book, the first to address the political history of Sufi shrines in Pakistan, explores the various ways in which the postcolonial state went about controlling their activities. Of key significance, Umber Bin Ibad shows was the West Pakistan Waqf Properties Ordinance, a governmental decree issued in 1959. Formed when General Ayub Khan assumed the role of Chief Martial Law Administrator, this allowed the state to take over shrines as waqf property. According to Islamic law, a waqf or charitable endowment had to be used for charitable or religious purposes, and the state created a separate Auqaf department to control the finances and activities of all the shrines, which were now under a state-sponsored waqf system. Focusing on the Punjab, famous for its large number of shrines, the book is based on extensive primary research, including newspapers, archival sources, interviews, court records, and the official reports of the Auqaf department. At a time when Sufi shrines are being increasingly targeted by Islamist extremists who view Sufism as heretical, this book sheds light on the shrines' contentious historical relationship with the state. An original contribution to South Asian Studies, the book will also be relevant to scholars of Colonial and Post Colonial History and Sufism Studies.

Routledge Handbook on South Asian Foreign Policy Aparna Pande, 2021-08-30 This handbook offers a comprehensive overview of South Asian foreign policy, examining the complex history and present state of South Asian foreign policy, the foreign policy of the countries of the region, as well as their relationships with their neighbors and key external players such as China and the United States in an effort to understand South Asia's place in the world order. It illustrates the future trajectory of foreign policy in the region and analyses future of regional arrangements like SAARC (South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation) and BIMSTEC. The handbook is structured in five parts each representing a focused area of enquiry: Foreign Policy Relations within South Asia, Relations within Indo-Pacific, Relations with China, Europe and the United States, Security. A carefully selected collection of 26 chapters written by experts on South Asian foreign economic and security policy, this handbook provides an objective yet accessible overview of the history and current state of foreign policy of each country and the region. It is an authoritative reference work for academics and students as well as international think tanks, research institutes and non-governmental organizations working on South Asian Politics, Asian Politics, Foreign Politics, International Affairs, World History and International Relations.

Place and Postcolonial Ecofeminism Shazia Rahman, 2019-08. While news reports about Pakistan tend to cover Taliban attacks and bombings and academics focus on security issues, the environment often takes a backseat in media reportage and scholarship. In particular, Pakistani women's attachment to their environment and their environmental concerns are almost always ignored. Shazia Rahman traces the ways in which Pakistani women explore alternative environmental modes of belonging, examines the vitality of place-based identities within Pakistani culture and thereby contributes to evolving understandings of Pakistani women in relation to both their environment and to various discourses of nation and patriarchy. Through an astute analysis of such works as Sabiha Sumar's Khamosh Pani (2003), Mehreen Jabbar's Ramchand Pakistani (2008), Sorayya Khan's Noor (2006), Uzma Aslam Khan's Trespassing (2003) and Kamila Shamsie's Burnt Shadows (2009), Rahman illuminates how Pakistani women's creative works portray how people live with one another, deal with their environment and intuit their relationship with the spiritual. She considers how literary and cinematic documentation of place-based identities simultaneously critiques and counters stereotypes of Pakistan as a country of religious nationalism and oppressive patriarchy. Rahman's analysis discloses fresh perspectives for thinking about the relationship between social and environmental justice.

Ghosts From the Past? Neeti Nair, Michael Kugelman, Bijan Omrani, 2021-07-31. Over the last few years, questions of religious freedom and the rights of religious minorities in South Asia have rarely been out of the international headlines. The position of Muslims in an increasingly nationalist India, the impact of Islamic blasphemy laws in Pakistan, the intensifying clash between India and Pakistan over Kashmir, attacks on the Muslim Rohingyas of Myanmar, tensions between Buddhists, Muslims and Christians in Sri Lanka, the struggle between Islam and secularism in Bangladesh: in all of these fields, as difficulties grow, there is an ever-increasing need to understand the history and genesis of the current problems. This volume, based on a conference held at the Woodrow Wilson Centre for Scholars in Washington DC in collaboration with the Royal Society for Asian Affairs in London, brings together a number of chapters written by a host of leading international scholars and policy experts. These chapters go back to the origins of national constitutions and fundamental laws, tracing their impact to the present. They explain how and why questions of state intention and ideology that were passed over during the crafting of these countries constitutions have returned to haunt South Asia with greater urgency and consequence This book was originally published as special issue of the journal Asian Affairs
