The Suns Of Independence:

The Suns of Independence Ahmadou Kourouma, 2024-01-01 Ahmadou Kourouma's award winning novel The Suns of Independence is one of the great classics of Francophone African literature capturing the dreams and struggles of a newly independent nation. Fama is the last of an ancient line of Dumbuya princes who before the Europeans came reigned undisputed over the Malinke tribe. Yet even after independence Fama is forced to beg for his place amongst the bureaucratic elite. Meanwhile his wife Salimata is desperately attempting to save the Dumbuya legacy from extinction. Beyond the gripping political intrigue Ahmadou Kourouma weaves together an in depth tapestry of Malinke culture blending the everyday experience of 1960s postcolonial life with age old myths and traditions. Perhaps the most remarkable African novelist writing in French. Guardian Francophone African Fiction Jonathan Ngate, 1988 The Sequential Dynamics of Narrative Ken Ireland, 2001 Building on critical theories of narrative this study analyses temporal and continuity relations in fiction.

Rising Anthills Elisabeth Bekers, 2010-08-05 Female genital excision or the ritual of cutting the external genitals of girls and women is undoubtedly one of the most heavily and widely debated cultural traditions of our time. By looking at how writers of African descent have presented the practice in their literary work Elisabeth Bekers shows how the debate on female genital excision evolved over the last four decades of the twentieth century in response to changing attitudes about ethnicity, nationalism, colonialism, feminism and human rights. Rising Anthills the title refers to a Dogon myth. Anthills analyzes works in English, French and Arabic by African and African American writers both women and men from different parts of the African continent and the diaspora. Attending closely to the nuances of language and the complexities of the issue Bekers explores lesser known writers side by side with such recognizable names as Ngugi wa Thiong'o, Flora Nwapa, Nawal El Saadawi, Ahmadou Kourouma, Calixthe Beyala, Alice Walker and Gloria Naylor. Following their literary discussions of female genital excision she discerns a gradual evolution from the 1960s when writers mindful of its communal significance carefully wrote around the physical operation through the 1970s and 1980s when they began to speak out against the practice and their societies' gender politics to the late 1990s when they situated their denunciations of female genital excision in a much broader international context of women's oppression and the struggle for women's rights. Masculinity in Ahmadou

Kourouma's The Suns of Independence Obed Chiliboyi, 2009 Indigenization of Language in the African Francophone Novel Peter W. Vakunta, 2011 Indigenization of Language in the African Francophone Novel A New Literary Canon discusses the question of indigenization in the African Francophone novel. Analyzing the prose narratives of Nzihe Boni, Ahmadou Kourouma and Patrice Nganang this book contends that African literature written in European languages is primarily a creative translation process. Recourse to European languages as a medium of expressing African imagination, worldview and cultures in fictional writing poses problems of intelligibility. Developed to express and reflect Western worldviews and sensibilities European languages are employed by African writers to convey messages that seem to be at variance with European imagination These writers find themselves writing in languages they wish to subvert through the technique of literary indigenization The significance of this study resides in its raising awareness to the hurdles that literary creativity in a polyglossic context may present to readers and translators This book provides answers to intriguing questions centering on the problematic of translation in contemporary African literature It is a contribution to current research aimed at unraveling the conundrum surrounding the language question in African Europhone fiction particularly the cultural functions of translation in literature Potential translation problems have to be addressed in order to make African literature written in European languages intelligible to global readership With the advent of globalization transcultural communication has become an activity of enormous importance to the international community It is a subject of great interest to translators linguists language instructors and literary theorists Les soleils des indépendances Ahmadou Kourouma, 1995 Depuis l'ère des Indépendances la littérature publique de la Côte d'Ivoire est en proie de profonds bouleversements The Story of the Sun, New York: 1833-1928 Frank Michael O'Brien, 1928 Toward the Decolonization of the Europhone African Novel Peter Wuteh Vakunta, 2023-09-30 Toward the Decolonization of the Europhone African Novel is a treatise on the problematics of language choice in Europhone African literature Vakunta's research is rooted in the notion that the postcolonial African fiction writer is at a crossroads of languages groping for linguistic re-orientation Using the prose of fiction of Patrice Nganang Ahmadou Kourouma Mercedes Fouda Nazi Boni and Gabriel K Fonkou as corpus he contends that postcolonial African fiction is an offshoot of a linguistic tinkering process that enables writers to tinker with the language of the ex-colonizer in a deliberate attempt to divest indigenous writing of its hegemonic vestiges Afrika, 1980 Journal of Cultural Studies, 2010 A New Reader's Guide to African Literature Hans M. Zell, Carol Bundy, Virginia Coulon, 1983 Black Writers Sharon Malinowski, 1994 This text presents comprehensive coverage of more than 400 of the most studied black authors from the Harlem Renaissance social and political activists and foreign black writers of interest to American Audiences South, 1980 Babel, 2001 Language, Literature, and Identity Kizito Mpoche, Tenu Mbu, 2006 The Weekly Review, 1982 There & Back Danielle Tilkin, 2006 The exhibition invites viewers to undertake a two-way journey from South to North and examine the similarities and differences between the work of those artists who emigrated and the work of those who stayed It also invites us to reevaluate our concept of what is African The works represent several generations of artists who have penetrated international circuits in recent years Frédéric Bruly Bouabré Ivory Coast serves as the starting point for a dialogue between the local and the global with works that challenge every possible preconceived idea about tradition and contemporaneity In turn these establish a harmonious dialogue with the works of other artists such as William Kentridge South Africa Vuyi Diba Senegal and Touhami Ennadre Morocco and with those of younger artists who experiment with the full range of media photography video and film such as Emeka Udemba Nigeria Marie Blanche Ouedraogo Burkina Faso Otobong Nkanga Nigeria Romuald Hazoum Benin and Soly Cissé Senegal Artists Ammar Bouras
