Southern Selves James Watkins, 2007-12-18 The memoirist seek to capture not just a self but an entire world and in this marvelous anthology thirty one of the South s finest writers writers like Kaye Gibbons and Reynolds Price Eudora Welty and Harry Crews Richard Wright and Dorothy Allison make their intensely personal contributions to a vibrant collective picture of southern life In the hands of these superb artists the South s rich tradition of storytelling is brilliantly revealed Whether slave or master intellectual or redneck each voice in this moving and unforgettable collection is proof that southern literature richly deserves its reputation for irreverent humor exquisite language a feeling for place and an undying often heartbreaking sense of the past

There Goes My Everything Jason Sokol,2008-12-10 During the civil rights movement epic battles for justice were fought in the streets at lunch counters and in the classrooms of the American South Just as many battles were waged however in the hearts and minds of ordinary white southerners whose world became unrecognizable to them Jason Sokol s vivid and unprecedented account of white southerners attitudes and actions related in their own words reveals in a new light the contradictory mixture of stubborn resistance and pragmatic acceptance as well as the startling and unexpected personal transformations with which they greeted the enforcement of legal equality

The Shadow of Selma Joe Street, Henry Knight Lozano,2021-02-04 The Shadow of Selma is the first thorough analysis of the historical importance and legacy of the 1965 campaign for civil rights in Selma Alabama and the consequent Voting Rights Act which is among the most important pieces of legislation in American history It considers the historical memory of the Selma campaign particularly examining the competing narratives of Selma in popular media and cinema

The Improbable Era Charles P. Roland,2014-04-23 In this concise yet comprehensive thoroughly researched and crisply written study The Improbable Era places developments over the last three decades in Southern economics politics education religion the arts and racial revolution into a disciplined framework that brings a measure of order to the perplexing chaos of this era of fundamental change in Southern life

Just Trying to Have School Natalie G. Adams, James H. Adams,2018-10-09 After the 1954 Brown v Board of Education ruling no state fought longer or harder to preserve segregated schools than Mississippi This massive resistance came to a crashing halt in October 1969 when the Supreme Court ruled in Alexander v Holmes Board of Education that the obligation of every school district is to terminate dual school systems at once and to operate now and hereafter only unitary schools Thirty of the thirty three Mississippi districts named in the case were ordered to open as desegregated schools after Christmas break With little guidance from state officials and no formal training or experience in effective school desegregation processes ordinary people were thrown into extraordinary circumstances However their stories have been largely ignored in desegregation literature Based on meticulous archival research and oral history interviews with over one hundred parents teachers students principals superintendents community leaders and school board members Natalie G Adams and James H Adams explore the arduous and complex task of implementing school desegregation How were bus routes determined Who lost their position as principal Who was assigned to what classes Without losing sight of the important macro forces in precipitating social change the authors shift attention to how the daily work of just trying to have school helped shape the contours of school desegregation in communities still living with the decisions made fifty years ago

The Hardest Deal of All Charles C. Bolton,2009-09-18 Race has shaped public education in the Magnolia State from Reconstruction through the Carter Administration For The Hardest Deal of All The Battle Over School Integration in Mississippi 1870 1980 Charles C Bolton mines newspaper accounts interviews journals archival records legal and financial documents and other sources to uncover the complex story of one of Mississippi's most significant and vexing issues This history closely examines specific events the aftermath of the Brown v Board of Education decision the 1966 protests and counterdemonstrations in Grenada and the efforts of particular organizations and carefully considers the broader picture Despite a separate but equal doctrine established in the late nineteenth century the state's racially divided school systems quickly developed vast differences in terms of financing academic resources teacher salaries and quality of education As one of the nation's poorest states Mississippi could not afford to finance one school system adequately much less two For much of the twentieth century white people fought hard to preserve the dual school system in which the maintenance of one race schools became the most important measure of educational quality Black people fought equally hard to end segregated schooling realizing that their schools would remain underfunded and understaffed as long as they were not integrated
