

Components of a SOAP Note in Occupational Therapy

Here's what goes into a SOAP note for occupational therapy.

Subjective: Gathering the Patient's Statements, Feelings and Perceptions

Here, you'll document the patient's personal experiences, feelings and perceptions about their therapy. It's about understanding the patient's perspective, concerns and how they're coping with challenges.

Objective: Documenting Measurable, Observable Data

This is your factual account of the therapy session. This includes documenting patient activities, their responses to various interventions, and your direct professional observations. It's a record of what was done, seen, and measured—like the patient's ability to perform certain tasks, their physical responses to treatment, and apparent range of motion when performing certain movements.

Assessment: Professional Interpretation of Subjective & Objective Information

Here, you'll examine the information gathered in the Subjective and Objective sections to make a professional judgment. This includes assessing the patient's progress, identifying any challenges or changes in their condition, and evaluating their response to therapy.

Plan: Detailing Future Therapy Plans, Adjustments in Treatment & Setting Goals

The Plan is the forward-looking component of the SOAP note. It outlines your recommendations for future therapy sessions, adjustments in treatment strategies, and sets short- and long-term goals for the patient.

Occupational Therapy Models for Intervention with Children and Families Sandra Barker Dunbar, 2007. This textbook explores recent theoretical models that enable occupational therapists to practice and interact with families in a more holistic and occupation-centered manner. It offers the latest information on viewing the broader contexts of environment and family in order to meet diverse occupational needs in a range of settings. The editor presents a variety of case scenarios that feature culturally diverse populations and varying diagnoses of children with occupational needs. With contributions from 11 leaders in occupational therapy, this comprehensive text is designed to increase awareness and understanding of theoretical models and their relationship to current occupational therapy practice with today's children and families. Traditional frames of reference in pediatric practice are explored, including sensory integration and neurodevelopmental treatment. Some current theoretical models discussed include the Model of Human Occupation, the Person-Environment-Occupation model, the Ecology of Human Performance model, and the Occupational Adaptation model. The new Occupational Therapy Practice Framework is incorporated throughout the text. Overall, the textbook employs a practical approach to this significant aspect of pediatric practice in occupational therapy.
