American Karma Sunil Bhatia, 2007-08 The Indian American community is one of the fastest growing immigrant communities in the U S Unlike previous generations they are marked by a high degree of training as medical doctors engineers scientists and university professors American Karma draws on participant observation and in depth interviews to explore how these highly skilled professionals have been inserted into the racial dynamics of American society and transformed into people of color Focusing on first generation middle class Indians in American suburbia it also sheds light on how these transnational immigrants themselves come to understand and negotiate their identities Bhatia forcefully contends that to fully understand migrant identity and cultural formation it is essential that psychologists and others think of selfhood as firmly intertwined with sociocultural factors such as colonialism gender language immigration and race based immigration laws American Karma offers a new framework for thinking about the construction of selfhood and identity in the context of immigration This innovative approach advances the field of psychology by incorporating critical issues related to the concept of culture including race power and conflict and will also provide key insights to those in anthropology sociology human development and migrant studies

American Indian Ethnic Renewal Joane Nagel, 1997-09-25 Does activism matter This book answers with a clear yes American Indian Ethnic Renewal traces the growth of the American Indian population over the past forty years when the number of Native Americans grew from fewer than one half million in 1950 to nearly 2 million in 1990 This quadrupling of the American Indian population cannot be explained by rising birth rates declining death rates or immigration Instead the growth in the number of American Indians is the result of an increased willingness of Americans to identify themselves as Indians What is driving this increased ethnic identification In American Indian Ethnic Renewal Joane Nagel identifies several historical forces which have converged to create an urban Indian population base a reservation and urban Indian organizational infrastructure and a broad cultural climate of ethnic pride and militancy Central among these forces was federal Indian Termination policy which ironically was designed to assimilate and de tribalize Native America Reactions against Termination were nurtured by the Civil Rights era atmosphere of ethnic pride to become a central focus of the native rights activist movement known as Red Power This resurgence of American Indian ethnic pride inspired increased Indian ethnic identification launched a renaissance in American Indian culture language art and spirituality and eventually contributed to the replacement of Termination with new federal policies affirming tribal Self Determination American Indian Ethnic Renewal offers a general theory of ethnic resurgence which stresses both structure and agency the role of politics and the importance of collective and individual action in understanding how ethnic groups revitalize and reinvent themselves Scholars and students of American Indians social movements and activism and recent United States history as well as the general reader interested in Native American life will all find this an engaging and informative work

Gender and Genre in Ethnographic Writing Elisabeth Tauber, Dorothy L. Zinn, 2021-06-07 This book provides new insights into an intense and long standing debate on women gender and masculinity with an explicit focus on ethnographic writing The six contributors to this book investigate and discuss the multiple connections between ethnographic writing and gender in both the history of anthropology and contemporary anthropology underlining problems potentialities stereotypes experiments continuities changes and challenges Building on a prologue by two Malinowski grandchildren and an exploration of the role that Bronislaw Malinowski's first wife Elsie Masson played in his literary presentation the anthropologists collected here problematize writing gender and gendered writing in ethnography revealing how these twin themes touch the history of the discipline itself and the classics of anthropology Has the legacy of Writing Culture and Women Writing Culture obviated the need to consider gender in writing Or could it be that the very mechanics of ethnographic writing are still imbued with hidden gendered divisions of labor Following the editors extensive overview of the question the contributing authors tackle gender and ethnographic writing from various vantages with a view to the past but also to the influence of previous feminist critiques in the present and with accounts of the issues they themselves have faced and the solutions they have devised

Writing in the Field Ivo Strecker, Shauna LaTosky, 2013 This festschrift is situated within the contexts of the Writing Culture debate the Rhetoric Culture project and the legacy of anthropologist Stephen Tyler's work on language and representation While Writing Culture 1986 alerted readers to the power of ethnographers over their field Writing in the Field alerts readers to the power of the field over its ethnographers Rather than reprise familiar debates about writing and representation the book's individual chapters elucidate how anthropological fieldwork is a highly fraught provisional and incomplete practice enmeshed in the gaps between self and the other The book's emphasis on the concepts of pathos epiphany and dissociation is developed through essays that are personal yet not merely subjective for they draw on and contribute to deep traditions of thinking about culture and rhetoric Series Ethnologie Forschung und Wissenschaft Vol 24 This fine collection of essays is a fitting tribute to the positive influence of Stephen Tyler an original and influential anthropologist of protean gifts E Douglas Lewis School of Social and Political Sciences U of Melbourne
