Writing South Africa Writing South Africa:

Writing South Africa Derek Attridge, Rosemary Jolly, 1998-01-22 During the final years of the apartheid era and the subsequent transition to democracy South African literary writing caught the world's attention as never before Writers responded to the changing political situation and its daily impact on the country's inhabitants with works that recorded or satirised state enforced racism explored the possibilities of resistance and rebuilding and creatively addressed the vexed question of literature's relation to politics and ethics Writing South Africa offers a window on the literary activity of this extraordinary period that conveys its range going well beyond a handful of world renowned names and its significance for anyone interested in the impact of decolonisation and democratisation on the cultural sphere It brings together for the first time discussions by some of the most distinguished South African novelists poets and dramatists with those of leading commentators based in South Africa Britain and North America Space, Place, and Gendered Violence in South African Writing S. Gunne, 2014-12-17 Exploring the relationship between space place and gendered violence as depicted in a range of South African writing Gunne examines the social and political conditions of exceptionality during and after apartheid Writers covered include Hilda Bernstein J M Coetzee Achmat Dangor Ruth First Nadine Gordimer and Antjie Krog South African Writing in Transition Rita Barnard, Andrew van der Vlies, 2019-02-21 Bringing together leading and emerging scholars this book asks the question how has contemporary South African literature grappled with ideas of time and history during the political transition away from apartheid Reading the work of major South African writers such as J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer and Ivan Vladislavic as well as contemporary crime fiction South African Writing in Transition explores how concerns about time and temporality have shaped literary form across the country's literary culture Establishing new connections between leading literary voices and lesser known works the book explores themes of truth and reconciliation disappointment and betrayal Relations and Networks in South African Indian Writing, 2018-05-15 Writers of Indian origin seldom appear in the South African literary landscape although the participation of Indian South Africans in the anti apartheid struggle was anything but insignificant The collective experiences of violence and the plea for reconciliation that punctuate the rhythms of post apartheid South Africa delineate a national script in which ethnic class and gender affiliations coalesce and patterns of connectedness between diverse communities are forged Relations and Networks in South African Indian Writing brings the experience of South African Indians to the fore demonstrating how their search for identity is an integral part of the national scene's project of connectedness By exploring how Indianness is articulated in the South African national script through the works of contemporary South African Indian writers such as Aziz Hassim Ahmed Essop Farida Karodia Achmat Dangor Shamim Sarif Ronnie Govender Rubendra Govender Neelan Govender Tholsi Mudly Ashwin Singh and Imraan Coovadia along with the prison memoirists Dr Goonam and Fatima Meer the book offers a theoretical model of South South subjectivities that is deeply rooted in the Indian Ocean world and its cosmopolitanisms Relations and Networks demonstrates convincingly the permeability of identity that is the marker of the Indian Ocean space a space defined by relations and networks established within and beyond ethnic class and gender categories

In a Province: Studies in the Writing of South Africa Derek Attridge, Laura Pechey, 2022-01-15 This volume brings together the most significant essays on South African literature by the distinguished critic Graham Pechey who died in 2016 They combine an acute sense of the historical and geopolitical situation of South African writing before during and after apartheid with a sensitive ear to literary detail

Trauma, Resistance, Reconstruction in Post-1994 South African Writing Jaspal Kaur Singh, Rajendra Chetty, 2010 The re conceptualization of South Africa as a democracy in 1994 has influenced the production and reception of texts in this nation and around the globe The literature emerging after 1994 provides a vision for reconciling the fragmented past produced by the brutality of apartheid policies and consequently shifting social relations from a traumatized past to a reconstructed future The purpose of the essays in this anthology is to explore within the literary imagination and cultural production of a post apartheid nation and its people how the trauma and violence of the past are reconciled through textual strategies What role does memory play for the remembering subject working through the trauma of a violent past

Complicity and Responsibility in Contemporary African Writing Minna Johanna Niemi, 2021-05-03 This book investigates the many ways in which contemporary African fiction has reflected on themes of responsibility and complicity during the postcolonial period Covering the authors Ayi Kwei Armah Tsitsi Dangarembga Nuruddin Farah Michiel Heyns and J M Coetzee the book places each writer s novels in their cultural and literary context in order to investigate similarities and differences between fictional approaches to individual complicity in politically unstable situations In doing so the study focuses on these texts representations of discomfiting experiences of being implicated in harm done to others in order to show that it is precisely during times of political crisis that questions of moral responsibility and implicatedness in compromised conduct become more pronounced The study also challenges longstanding western amnesia concerning responsibility for historical and present day violence in African countries and juxtaposes this denial of responsibility with the western literary readership s consumption of narratives of African suffering The study instead proposes new reading habits based on an awareness of readerly complicity and responsibility Drawing insights from across political philosophy and literary theory this book will be of interest to researchers of African literature postcolonial studies and peace and conflict studies

Writing Africa in the Short Story Ernest Emenyonu, 2013 The success of the Caine Prize for African Writing and the growth of online publishing have played key roles in putting the short story in its rightful place within the study and criticism of African literature African writers have much more than the critics recognized the beauty and potency of the short story Always the least studied in African literature classrooms and the most critically overlooked genre in African literature today the African short story is now given the attention it deserves Contributors here take a close look at the African short story to re define its own peculiar pedigree chart its trajectory critique its present state and examine its creative possibilities They examine how the short story and the novel complement each other or exist in contradistinction within the context of culture and politics history and public memory legends myths and folklore Ernest Emenyonu is Professor of Africana Studies at the University of Michigan Flint USA the editorial board is composed of scholars from US UK and African universities Nigeria HEBN Africa Writing Europe Maria Olaussen, Christina Angelfors, 2009 Africa Writing Europe offers critical readings of the meaning and presence of Europe in a variety of African literary texts Authors discussed include Leila Aboulela Tatamkhulu Afrika Alice Solomon Bowen Ken Bugul and Tayeb Salih Southern African Writing, 2023-12-21 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies historiography the social sciences and cultural anthropology Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature including the Afro Caribbean that moves beyond worn out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities based on Western these days usually Japanese technology it is a vigorously African institution it is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it but is often enough the only means of transport available it creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news storytelling and political debate Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates to overcoming notions of absolute cultural ethnic or religious alterity and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world Matatu will be published as journal as of 2016 All back volumes are still available in print European-language Writing in Sub-Saharan Africa Albert S.
