Managing Men Who Sexually Abuse Roger Kennington, David Briggs, 2006-05-25 This new book constitutes a comprehensive and accessible guide to managing men who sexually offend and draws on recent developments in cognitive behavioural therapy From their own extensive knowledge of contemporary practice David Briggs and Roger Kennington offer insights and guidance for improving objectives and techniques in intervention Managing High Risk Sex Offenders in the Community Karen Harrison,2010-03-01 Sex offenders and in particular paedophiles have been the subject of much political and media attention producing intensive debates about the best way of dealing with them This book explores these issues evaluating the measures in use or being considered including drug treatment MAPPA the use of the Sex Offender Register restorative justice techniques and treatment programmes It is concerned with high risk sex offenders both when they are sentenced to a community order and also when they are released back into the community after a custodial sentence The introductory section opens with a discussion on how terms such as paedophilia are constructed and viewed and then looks at how government policy regarding sex offending has developed over recent years Section two looks at issues concerned with risk management questioning whether enough is being done to monitor the risk that high risk offenders pose when released into society whilst section three on risk reduction covers the main methods of treatment including sex offender treatment programmes pharmacotherapy chemical castration and restorative and reintegration techniques Section Four focuses on specific offender groups including female sexual offenders sexual harm by youth mentally disordered sexual offenders and intellectual disabled offenders These assess in what ways these offenders are different to the norm and look at how we should be dealing and treating these differences The final section looks at social and moral responsibilities including the patterns prevention and protection of cyber sex offences and media constructions of and reactions to paedophilia In the final chapter the concept of dignity is addressed and the balance between community protection and the rights of sex offenders involved is evaluated Serving the Stigmatized Wesley T. Church II,David W. Springer,2018-06-26 America s incarceration rate was roughly constant from 1925 to 1973 with an average of 110 people behind bars for every 100 000 residents By 2013 however the rate of incarceration in state and federal prisons had increased sevenfold to 716 Compared with 102 for Canada 132 for England and Wales 85 for France and a paltry 48 in Japan the United States is the worlds most aggressive jailer When one factors in those on parole or probation the American correctional system is in control of more than 7.3 million Americans or one in every 31 U.S. adults This means that 6.7 million adult men and women about 3.1 percent of the total U.S. adult population are now very non voluntary members of America s correctional community Some key questions that need to be addressed are What are we doing with those 7.3 million Americans How are they being treated while they are incarcerated How can we best prepare them to return to their communities More than 650 000 offenders are released back into our communities every year however 70% are rearrested within three years of their release Serving the Stigmatized is the first book of its kind that explores best practices when dealing with a specific prison population while under some form of institutional control If the established goal of a correctional facility is to rehabilitate then it is imperative that the rehabilitation is effective and does not simply serve as a political buzz word The timing of releasing this book coincides with a real movement in the United States supported by both conservative and liberal advocates and foundations to decrease the size of the prison population by returning more offenders to their communities The text examines 14 specific populations and how to effectively treat them in order to better serve them and our communities Clinical Assessment of Malingering and Deception Richard Rogers, Scott D. Offenders and Their Families examines child sex offenders inappropriate developmentally precocious and aggressive sexual behavior among children adolescent sex offenders criminal sexual acts committed by juveniles adult male sex offender the average male sexual molester will victimize hundreds of children in his lifetime women who sexually abuse children challenging the stereotypes about motherhood and female child relationships professional perpetrators clerics teachers tutors athletic coaches intellectually and developmentally challenged sex offenders sexually abusive acts committed by people with intellectual disabilities ID violent sex offenders physical and psychological injuries suffered during sexual violation comorbid psychopathology in child adolescent and adult sexual offenders anti social narcissistic and sadistic behaviors learning problems neuropsychological impairments and more Comprehensive Mental Health Practice with Sex Offenders and Their Families is an essential resource for anyone working with diverse groups of sex offenders The Future of Correctional Rehabilitation Ronen Ziv, 2017-08-23 In the aftermath of Martinson's 1974 nothing works doctrine scholars have made a concerted effort to develop an evidence based corrections theory and practice to show what works to change offenders Perhaps the most important contribution to this effort was made by a group of Canadian psychologists most notably Donald Andrews James Bonta and Paul Gendreau who developed a treatment paradigm called the Risk Need Responsivity RNR model which became the dominant theory of correctional treatment This approach was more recently challenged by a perspective developed by Tony Ward Shadd Maruna and others called the Good Lives Model GLM Based in part on desistance research and positive psychology this model proposes to rehabilitate offenders by building on the strengths offenders possess GLM proponents see the RNR model as a deficit model that fixes dynamic risk factors rather than identifying what offenders value most and using these positive factors to pull them out of crime Through a detailed examination of both models theoretical and correctional frameworks The Future of Correctional Rehabilitation Moving Beyond the RNR Model and Good Lives Model Debate probes the extent to which the models offer incompatible or compatible approaches to offender treatment and suggests how to integrate the RNR and GLM approaches to build a new and hopefully more effective vision for offender treatment A foreword by renowned criminologist Francis T Cullen helps put the material into context This book will be of much interest to scholars and students studying correctional rehabilitation as well as practitioners working with offenders Assessment and Treatment of Sex Offenders Anthony R. Beech, Leam A. Craig, Kevin D. Browne, 2009-03-04 A comprehensive resource for practitioners working with sexual offenders Discusses assessments and interventions as well as providing a comprehensive literature review There are around 10 000 convictions or cautions for sexual offences in the UK each year early evidence suggests that treatment programmes can halve re conviction rates Edited by a University of Birmingham team who are world leaders in researching this area the subject is of interest worldwide with strong markets in Canada and New Zealand Includes material on managing offenders with developmental disabilities and those with Dangerous and Severe Personality Disorder The Resettlement of Sex Offenders after Custody David Thompson, Terry Thomas, 2017-07-14 Circles of Support and Accountability is a voluntary initiative that assists people with convictions for sexual offences to resettle in the community. People leaving prison with such convictions often have difficulties in resettling. They carry the burden of the conviction itself which may be both stigmatising and isolating and they are the subject of sex offender register requirements, parole and other supervisory conditions. Circles of Support and Accountability in the UK started over ten years ago and have slowly spread across the country. They work closely with the police and probation services but rely entirely on volunteers prepared to give up their time to work with people often otherwise shunned by communities. Circles offer support to the person concerned but also hold them accountable for their future behaviour. They aim to ensure there are no more victims. This book is based on original research and provides a close up picture of how these Circles of Support and Accountability work in practice. It brings together for the first time the voices of all the participants from the offenders and the volunteers through to the Coordinators who link the volunteers to the professionals in the form of the police and probation services. The research was commissioned by Circles UK and funded by the Wates Foundation and the University of Leeds School of Law. Identifying and Treating Youth who Sexually Offend Robert Geffner, 2004 This book is designed to assist professionals working with youth who sexually offend.
