What South Africa Learned Experience From Savannah Economic Development Authority:

Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa Renu Modi, Fantu Cheru, 2013-08-08 The subject of food security and land issues in Africa has become one of increased importance and contention over recent years. In particular, the focus has shifted to the role of new global South donors, especially India, China, and Brazil, who are playing a role in shaping African agriculture through their increased involvement and investment in the continent. Approaching the topic through the framework of South-South co-operation, this highly original volume presents a critical analysis of the ways in which Chinese, Indian, and Brazilian engagements in African agriculture are structured and implemented. Do these investments have the potential to create new opportunities to improve local living standards, transfer new technology and knowhow to African producers, and reverse the persistent productivity decline in African agriculture? Or will they simply aggravate the problem of food insecurity by accelerating the process of land alienation and displacement of local people from their land? Topical and comprehensive, Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa offers fresh insight into a set of relationships that will shape both Africa and the world over the coming decades.

Crop Improvement, Adoption and Impact of Improved Varieties in Food Crops in Sub-Saharan Africa Thomas S. Walker, Jeffrey Alwang, 2015-10-26 Following on from the CGIAR study by Evenson and Gollin published by CABI in 2003, this volume provides up-to-date estimates of adoption outcomes and productivity impacts of crop variety improvement research in sub-Saharan Africa. The book reports on the results of the DIIVA Project that focussed on the varietal generation, adoption, and impact for 20 food crops in 30 countries. It also compares adoption outcomes in sub-Saharan Africa to those in South Asia and guides future efforts for global agricultural research.

Learning about Africa Selly Oak Colleges. Development Education Centre, 1979 Sojourn: Emeritus Professor V.A. Oyenuga's Biography, Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1985-09 Getting to Scale Homi Kharas, Johannes F. Linn, 2013-04-15 Visit any developing country and you will find governments, international donors, NGOs, and corporations involved in a range of innovative activities to address the needs of the poor. Only a fraction of those that show promise at a localized level, however, will ever be replicated, expanded, and sustained to achieve a transformative impact. Learning how to expand the reach of proven interventions so that they help larger numbers of poor people scaling up is a fundamental challenge facing the developing world. This book improves our understanding of how scaling up can be achieved and what the international community can do to support the process. Remarkably little is understood of how to design scalable projects, the impediments to reaching scale, or the most appropriate pathways for reaching that goal. To answer these questions, this book features a series of case studies drawn from both the public and private sectors to demonstrate how the scaling up of services for the world's poor can happen. By linking public and private experience, the authors argue that successful scaling up will not be achieved by either public or private sector efforts alone. Rather, it will require both public and private efforts working together. This book demonstrates that the challenges to scaling up are complex and various but ultimately surmountable It provides an invaluable resource for development practitioners analysts and students on a topic that remains largely unexplored and poorly understood The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2000 Protected
