Envisioning Machine Translation in the Information Future John S. White, 2000-09-27 Envisioning Machine Translation in the Information Future When the organizing committee of AMTA 2000 began planning it was in that brief moment in history when we were absorbed in contemplation of the passing of the century and the millennium Nearly everyone was comparing lists of the most important accomplishments and people of the last 10 100 or 1000 years imagining the radical changes likely over just the next few years and at least mildly anxious about the potential Y2K apocalypse The millennial theme for the conference Envisioning MT in the Information Future arose from this period The year 2000 has now come and nothing terrible has happened yet to our electronic infrastructure Our musings about great people and events probably did not ennoble us much and whatever sense of jubilee we held has since dissipated So it may seem a bit obsolete or anachronistic to cast this AMTA conference into visionary themes

We as Self Hye Young Kim, 2021-01-28 We as Self argues for a notion of we-ness based not on a self-centered or a self-less point of view in which the we is only either a collection of individuals or an anonymous whole but on relation This relation is pre-subjective meaning that the conscious reflective subjective self is not the conceptual basis of the relation The irreducible metaphysical distinction between self and other is always there but the awareness of it is not prior to this relation which is an ontological pre condition of self Hye Young Kim demonstrates that the distinction and unity of self and other in this relation can be comprehended spatially by applying knot logic The author analyzes certain linguistic practices in Korean to show one representation of pre subjective we ness in language but not in an ethnographical manner By doing so the author criticizes and challenges the Eurocentric tendency of philosophy and contributes to efforts to expand diversity in philosophy
