A History of Modern Political Thought Gary Browning, 2016-10-13 How are we to understand past political thinkers Is it a matter simply of reading their texts again and again Do we have to relate past texts of political thought to the contexts in which ideas were composed and in which the aims of past thinkers were formulated Or should past political theories be deconstructed so as to uncover not what their authors maintain but what the texts reveal In this book theories of interpreting past political thinkers are examined and the interpretive methods of a range of theories are reviewed including those of Hegel Marx Oakeshott Collingwood the Cambridge School Foucault Derrida and Gadamer The application of these theories of interpretation to notable modern political theorists Machiavelli Hobbes Locke Rousseau Kant Hegel Marx Bentham Mill Nietzsche and Beauvoir is then used as a way of understanding modern political thought and of assessing interpretive theories of past political thought The result is a book which sees the history of modern political thought as more than a procession of political theories but rather as a reflection on the meaning of past political thought and its interpretation It provides a way of reading the history of modern political thought in which the question of interpretation matters both for understanding how we interpret the past but also for considering what it means to undertake political thinking

Thinking with History Carl E. Schorske, 2014-07-14 In this book the distinguished historian Carl Schorske author of the Pulitzer Prize winning Fin de Si cle Vienna draws together a series of essays that reveal the changing place of history in nineteenth and twentieth century cultures In most intellectual and artistic fields Schorske argues twentieth century Europeans and Americans have come to do their thinking without history Modern art modern architecture modern music modern science all have defined themselves not as emerging from or even reacting against the past but as detached from it in a new autonomous cultural space This is in stark contrast to the historicism of the nineteenth century he argues when ideas about the past pervaded most fields of thought from philosophy and politics to art music and literature However Schorske also shows that the nineteenth century's attachment to thinking with history and the modernist way of thinking without history are more than just antitheses They are different ways of trying to address the problems of modernity to give shape and meaning to European civilization in the era of industrial capitalism and mass politics Schorske begins by reflecting on his own vocation as it was shaped by the historical changes he has seen sweep across political and academic culture Then he offers a European sampler of ways in which nineteenth century European intellectuals used conceptions of the past to address the problems of their day the city as community and artifact the function of art social dislocation Narrowing his focus to Fin de Si cle Vienna in a second group of essays he analyzes the emergence of ahistorical modernism in that city Against the background of Austria's persistent conflicting Baroque and Enlightenment traditions Schorske examines three Viennese pioneers of modernism Adolf Loos Gustav Mahler and Sigmund Freud as they sought new orientation in their fields In a concluding essay Schorske turns his attention to thinking about history In the context of a postmodern culture when other disciplines that had once abandoned history are discovering new uses for it he reflects on the nature and limits of history for the study of culture Originally published in 1998 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to
