2013 PATRA SWAMI RAM CHARRAN, 2012-09-21 Everything you need to forecast your future is seen through your third eye your mind s eye This foresight has taken yogis and experts nearly a lifetime to achieve but with Swami Ram Charran s Patra and his LifeCode System you can easily calculate all the patterns seen in your mind s eye allowing you to open it and create your future reality Swami Ram Charran s 2013 Patra has provided you with all the answers you have been looking for to glimpse into the next year of life and world events Using a highly advanced mathematical system based upon Eastern and Vedic sciences Swami Ram provide you with simple equations that will solve the difficulties that every individual person faces in their life on a daily monthly and yearly basis Tempest Liz Skilton,2019-06-01 Liz Skilton s innovative study tracks the naming of hurricanes over six decades exploring the interplay between naming practice and wider American culture In 1953 the U S Weather Bureau adopted female names to identify hurricanes and other tropical storms Within two years that convention came into question and by 1978 a new system was introduced including alternating male and female names in a pattern that continues today In Tempest Hurricane Naming and American Culture Skilton blends gender studies with environmental history to analyze this often controversial tradition Focusing on the Gulf South the nation s hurricane coast Skilton closely examines select storms including Betsy Camille Andrew Katrina and Harvey while referencing dozens of others Through print and online media sources government reports scientific data and ephemera she reveals how language and images portray hurricanes as gendered objects masculine named storms are generally characterized as stronger and more serious while feminine named storms are described as unladylike and in need of taming Further Skilton shows how the hypersexualized rhetoric surrounding Katrina and Sandy and the effeminate depictions of Georges represent evolving methods to define and explain extreme weather events As she chronicles the evolution of gendered storm naming in the United States Skilton delves into many other aspects of hurricane history She describes attempts at scientific control of storms through hurricane seeding during the Cold War arms race of the 1950s and relates how Roxcy Bolton a member of the National Organization for Women led the crusade against feminizing hurricanes from her home in Miami near the National Hurricane Center in the 1970s Skilton also discusses the skyrocketing interest in extreme weather events that accompanied the introduction of 24 hour news coverage of storms as well as the impact of social media networks on Americans tracking and understanding of hurricanes and other disasters The debate over hurricane naming continues as Skilton demonstrates and many Americans question the merit and purpose of the gendered naming system What is clear is that hurricane names matter and that they fundamentally shape our impressions of storms for good and bad Ethnographies of Islam in China Rachel Harris,Guangtian Ha,Maria Jaschok,2021-01-31 In the late 1970s Islam regained its force by generating novel forms of piety and forging new paths in politics throughout the world including China The Islamic revival in China which came to fruition in the 2000s and the 2010s prompted increases in government suppression but also intriguing resonances with the broader Muslim world from influential theoretical and political contestations over Muslim women s status the popularization of mass media and the appearance of new patterns of consumption to increases in transnational Muslim migration Although China does not belong to the Islamic world as it is conventionally understood China's Muslims have strengthened and expanded their global connections and impact Such significant shifts in Chinese Muslim life have received scant scholarly attention until now With contributions from a wide variety of scholars all sharing a commitment to the value of the ethnographic approach this volume provides the first comprehensive account of China's Islamic revival since the 1980s as the country struggled to recover from the wreckage of the Cultural Revolution The authors show the multifarious nature of China's Islam revival which defies any reductive portrayal that paints it as a unified development motivated by a common ideology and demonstrate how it was embedded in China's broader economic transition Most importantly they trace the historical genealogies and sociopolitical conditions that undergird the crackdown on Muslim life across China confronting head on the difficulties of working with Muslims Uyghur Muslims in particular at a time of intense religious oppression intellectual censorship and intrusive surveillance technology With chapters on both Hui and Uyghur Muslims this book also traverses boundaries that often separate studies of these two groups and illustrates with great clarity the value of disciplinary and methodological border crossing As such Ethnographies of Islam in China is essential reading for those interested in Islam's complexity in contemporary China and its broader relevance to the Muslim world and the changing nature of Chinese society seen through the prism of religion Library of

Ambiguity and Religion in Ovid's Fasti Darja Šterbenc Erker,2023-03-20 Ovid's Fasti offers multifocal views of Augustan religion to convey ambivalences inconsistencies and paradoxes in the imperial family's religious agenda Darja Šterbenc Erker explores Ovid's irreverent and ambiguous presentations of calendrical aetiologies deifications and imperial gods that humorously call to mind Arachne's tapestry depicting faulty gods and that stand in sharp contrast to the poet's more serious discussions of the values he cherishes such as freedom and poetic immortality Especially in the exilic revisions of the poem Ovid emphasises the motif of bestowing divine honours upon mortals through poetry For him the stars in the heavens do not represent deified statesmen but immortal authors
