

Serving Our Employees: For Employees...Respect and Opportunity

Respecting Diversity

Discrimination is not tolerated at Dollar General. It limits our ability to reach our potential and creates an unpleasant work environment. We must never discriminate against a fellow employee or anyone working on our Company's behalf, based upon the person's race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, disability, marital status, veteran status, citizenship status, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information or other characteristic protected by law or listed in our Employee Handbook. We're particularly dedicated to this policy when making employment-related decisions.

We also need to work together to ensure our workplace is free from harassment. Harassment is any unwelcome conduct that is based on another's protected characteristic and has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, offensive or hostile work environment. Harassment also includes situations where employment decisions are conditioned on an employee's submission to unwelcome conduct by his or her manager that is based on the employee's protected characteristic. Regardless of the form harassment takes—whether it's a spoken or written remark, physical act or visual depiction—our Company won't tolerate it. Discrimination and harassment of or by a non-employee involved in Company business, such as a vendor or customer, is also prohibited. For more information, see our Anti-Discrimination and Harassment Policy and our Employee Handbook.

Although our Company's policy against discrimination and harassment may be stricter than that required by law, you must follow Company policy when acting on Dollar General's behalf. If you experience or know of instances of discrimination or harassment, notify your manager, the ERC or Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) immediately. All reports will be investigated, and appropriate disciplinary action will be taken. You will not be subject to retaliation for making an honest report.

Q: One of Carla's coworkers constantly asks her out on dates and comments on her appearance while they are working. Carla is embarrassed by the situation and feels uncomfortable at work. Should she report his behavior?

A: Yes. Carla's coworker may be creating an offensive workplace for her. Carla can speak with her manager if she's comfortable doing so, or she can contact the ERC or ADR.

Maintaining a Safe and Healthy Workplace

At Dollar General, safety is very important. We ensure a safe workplace by following all safety-related signs and instructions and by taking steps to prevent accidents. We only perform job activities (1) for which we've been trained and that don't violate established safety rules or (2) that don't pose a safety risk. Report any threats to workplace safety to your manager and the Risk Management Hotline immediately.

We can only maintain a safe workplace if it is free from violence. Our Company won't tolerate physical acts of violence, threats of physical harm, verbal abuse or other intimidating or disruptive behavior. If you experience or know of this sort of behavior, notify your manager or the ERC.

code or standard no panacea that will lead to corporate responsibility CR Yet now more than ever before corporations are waking up to the fact that they must adopt codes and implement standards to satisfy the growing demands of an ever wider and ever less trustful spectrum of stakeholders So where do companies start Information overload is nowhere more apparent than in the field of CR There are millions of pages and web pages written on codes and standards but most of it is spin organisations punting to sell their code or standard The reality is that CR is an emerging field a new terrain for which maps are much needed but often imprecise Each company is different each with its own challenges corporate culture unique set of stakeholders and management systems Corporate responsibility is a journey for which today there is no single map but a multitude of codes and standards that can be combined in new ways for different journeys In her many lectures around the world CSR consultant Deborah Leipziger has been asked the same question over and over again What are the best standards for companies seeking to be socially responsible Over the course of more than a decade she has analysed hundreds of codes of conduct and standards to answer that question This indispensable resource is the result The Corporate Responsibility Code Book is a guide for companies trying to understand the landscape of corporate responsibility and searching for their own unique route towards satisfying diverse stakeholders There is no one size fits all approach A company may face quite different challenges if it operates in more than part of the world And yet stakeholders especially consumers and investors are keen for some degree of comparability with which they can evaluate corporate performance There are countervailing forces at work within corporate responsibility on the one hand is the need for convergence in order to simplify the large numbers of codes and standards and on the other hand the need to foster diversity and innovation Many of the best codes of conduct and standards are not well known while some CR instruments that are well disseminated are not terribly effective Some comprehensive codes of conduct achieve nothing while other quite vague codes of conduct become well embedded into the organisation and foster innovation and change The book explains some of the best CR instruments available and distils their most valuable elements The goal of the book is to help companies select develop and implement social and environmental codes of conduct It demonstrates how the world's leading companies are implementing global codes of conduct including the United Nations Global Compact the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises Social Accountability 8000 SA 8000 and AccountAbility 1000 AA 1000 The codes in this book cover a wide range of issues including human rights labour rights environmental management corruption and corporate governance The book also includes how to or process codes focusing on reporting stakeholder engagement and assurance This book is based on interviews with the standard setters the implementers of standards academics activists and other key stakeholders from around the world and in many cases includes the full text of the code profiled Each of the standards and codes described has been shared with the promulgators of the instrument to ensure that the information is as up to date as possible The Corporate Responsibility Code Book will be an invaluable tool for companies developing their own code but will also be a key tool for companies with a strong track record in CR seeking to understand the interrelationships among codes and standards to create their own corporate vision It will be the key reference text on corporate codes of conduct for many years to come
