Working With Men In Health And Social Care:

Working with Men in Health and Social Care Brid Featherstone, Mark Rivett, Jonathan Scourfield, 2007-08-01

Working with Men in Health and Social Care is a very welcome contribution to the stock of books on men and masculinities. It is especially useful for those interested in direct practice and policy applications in the fields of welfare and for those who work with the problems men create, the problems men experience and their interconnections. Jeff Hearn co-editor, Men and Masculinities, University of Huddersfield and Linköping University. Working with Men in Health and Social Care is an important and timely book that introduces the complex issues and debates involved in working with men in a range of professional settings. The authors locate academic and popular discourse on masculinities within the specific context of health and social care settings, critically analysing the theory and policy that underpin and inform practice and continually linking theoretical frameworks to real life practice examples. Section 1 contextualises the topic with a discussion of gender theory, social policy and the occupational culture of relevant organisations. Section 2 provides a summary of practice models examining practice with men as individuals as well as in groups, families and communities. Section 3 is organised according to specific groups of service users and includes chapters on fathers, abusive men, physical and mental health, boys and older men. This thought-provoking and topical book will be essential reading for students and academics in social work, health care, probation, counselling and allied disciplines and for those facing the reality of working with men in their day-to-day practice.

Face to Face with Emotions in Health and Social Care Benjamin Gray, 2012-05-10. This book draws from the everyday experiences as well as the harsh realities confronting behavioral care providers on the frontline. The book recounts the stories and sometimes disturbing emotions of people whose lives have undergone sudden change or even drastic trauma: people whose feelings of comfort and safety have been shattered by exposure to illness, abuse, death and bereavement. The perspectives and experiences of nurses, social care staff, patients, children and families are at the core of understanding the importance, challenges and therapeutic vitality of emotions. The 55 individuals on the frontline who took part in the interviews on which this study is based discuss the emotions associated with care in mental health, pediatric oncology, AIDS/HIV as well as child protection and abuse, racism, refugee/exile, poverty and social exclusion. Their bravery, openness and ability to communicate and share their emotions make this book possible.
