Refugee Learner Experiences. A Case Study of Zimbabwean Refugee Children Lawrence Meda,2017-09 This study is a presentation of Zimbabwean refugee learner experiences Children escaped political persecution and economic problems which affected Zimbabwe in the year 2008 Many of these children were abused and witnessed traumatic experiences their close relatives and neighbours being executed in cold blood This study was guided by three critical questions i who are the Zimbabwean refugee learners ii what were Zimbabwean refugee learners migration experiences and iii what were Zimbabwean refugee learners school experiences The study employed Bronfenbrenner s Social Ecological Model as its overarching theoretical framework Each stage of the refugee experience was described at each point in time

The Palgrave Handbook of History and Social Studies Education Christopher W. Berg, Theodore M. Christou,2020-04-03 This Handbook presents an international collection of essays examining history education past and present Framing recent curriculum reforms in Canada and in the United States in light of a century long debate between the relationship between theory and practice this collection contextualizes the debate by exploring the evolution of history and social studies education within their state or national contexts With contributions ranging from Canada Finland New Zealand Sweden the Netherlands the Republic of South Africa the United Kingdom and the United States chapters illuminate the ways in which curriculum theorists and academic researchers are working with curriculum developers and educators to translate and refine notions of historical thinking or inquiry as well as pedagogical practice

Moto ,2001 Mastering African History for Ordinary Level Stanley R. Katere,2006

If You Want to Learn Early African History START HERE Robin Walker,2014-12-09 Many people have told me of their interest in early Black or African history and heritage These people were from all walks of life students teachers plumbers civil servants electricians entrepreneurs etcetera Many were also parents who wanted to pass on information to their children What they had in common was that they were unsure of where to begin their reading and study but they still wanted to find out more information This book was written to simplify that journey As the author of When We Ruled a 700 plus page book on African history I could also see the need to produce a smaller book that condenses and simplifies the information I want to make the data as accessible as possible hence this book This book is in two parts The first part is called If you want to learn Early African History START HERE The second part is called 50 Questions and Answers on the History of Black People The first part of the book If you want to learn Early African History START HERE is a general introduction to Classical African history covering the most important ancient and medieval empires It began life as two separate lectures that I gave to introduce African history One of the lectures was called When We Ruled Thousands of Years of a Visible African Heritage The second lecture was called The Lost Civilisations of Central Africa To write this section of the book I combined these two lectures into one narrative In the final part of this section I suggest other sources that a student could read to advance their knowledge even more The second part of the book 50 Questions and Answers on the History of Black People began life when a colleague approached me to give him an extended interview on Black or African history The colleague posed 50 varied questions to me to which I gave extended answers He asked me about Nile Valley history Ancient Kingdoms and Empires The Slave Trade earlier Black historians and their writings etcetera I hope that the 50 questions answer most of the questions that people raise concerning Black or African history Robin Walker Principles of African History Daniel W. Byabatto, 2014 Africa Raymond Nelson (C.), 2017-03-19 What wove the African continent into the rich fabric of cultures and peoples that it is today Where did ancient culture trade and civilization begin How did the African people survive and thrive despite European colonization and apartheid These are just some of the questions you ll find answers to in Africa African History from Ancient Egypt to Modern South Africa Africa is a vast continent whose waters fertile lands minerals and diverse wildlife nurtured humankind since ancient times until European colonization and exploitation caused immeasurable suffering and loss To understand how Africa developed thrived suffered and emerged into the rich tapestry of peoples that it is today take a trip back to the ancient River Nile and the East African coast Witness the development of small settlements into three distinct cultures the Carthaginian Empire grow and flourish as an economic and commercial power the settlement of the Zimbabwe plateau and the construction of enormous stone cities the emergence of the Kingdom of Kongo and its expansion through peaceful trade and alliances the upheaval atrocities wars and eventual stability created by European colonization the founding of the Congo Free State and the growth of forced labor to extract valuable resources from the land the decolonization of Africa and the return of territorial sovereignty and independence the forced racial segregation under apartheid and the birth of a new constitution that ended it the founding of the African Union to establish norms across the continent A Short History of Africa ,1990 Includes text vocabulary lists and comprehension questions designed to acquaint students with the history of Africa Africa in History Basil Davidson, 1995-12 History of Africa tracing its inner growth and world wide significance that also includes recent changes in South Africa Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century African History Dickson Eyoh, Paul Tiyambe Zeleza, 2005-10-24 With nearly two hundred and fifty individually signed entries the Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century African History explores the ways in which the peoples of Africa and their politics states societies economies environments cultures and arts were transformed during the course of that Janus faced century Overseen by a diverse and distinguished international team of consultant editors the Encyclopedia provides a thorough examination of the global and local forces that shaped the changes that the continent underwent

Combining essential factual description with evaluation and analysis the entries tease out patterns from across the continent as a whole as well as within particular regions and countries it is the first work of its kind to present such a comprehensive overview of twentieth century African history With full indexes and a thematic entry list together with ample cross referencing and suggestions for further reading the Encyclopedia will be welcomed as an essential work of reference by both scholar and student of twentieth century African history Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2004 A Short History of Africa Roland Oliver,1990 Includes text vocabulary lists and comprehension questions designed to acquaint students with the history of Africa When We Ruled Study Guide and Reading Plan Robin Walker,2013-09-30 Why You Should Be Reading This Study Guide Do you want to master your history Do you teach or lecture on Black or African history As part of my mission to popularise Black or African history it is clear that the premier book on that history When We Ruled needs an equally premier learning resource This study guide and 60 day reading plan is an essential resource for students and lecturers of Black or African History If you follow this guide alongside When We Ruled You will gain mastery over Black or African History Your knowledge will be the envy of your friends and family Learning your history will skyrocket your confidence and esteem Your interest in all areas of human culture will dramatically increase You will have a vast reserve of information to pass on to your children Even after just 15 days of reading and study I promise that you will know more Black or African history than 90% of people who claim to be knowledgeable in this area One part of this guide is a 60 day plan to read and learn the contents of When We Ruled The guide suggests what pages should be read each day and contains test questions for you to answer Another part of this guide divides Black or African History into 42 key themes in approximately chronological order similar to how a lecturer or teacher may set out a history course Aimed at teachers and lecturers it suggests what pages should be read and also recommends additional books that you or your students could profitably learn from Robin Walker African and Afro-American History Jack Rudman,1997-02-01 African History Trivia: Unveiling the Remarkable Journey from Ancient Civilizations to Modern Africa with 480 Intriguing Questions and Answers Ahoy Publications,2025-04-25 The Scramble for Africa Robin Brooke-Smith,1987-11-11 The extended plan of the series is designed in response to the changing trends in history examinations at 18 plus which now demand the study of documentary sources and the testing of historical skills Each volume similar in format to the earlier books in the series concentrates on a particular topic within a narrower time span A general introduction to the period in question is followed by eight sections dealing with a major theme Each section consists of an introduction a series of documents to illustrate the theme drawn mainly from primary sources and sets of questions following groups of documents The student is thus introduced to a wider range of sources than that to be found in the standard textbook Reading the World Kwasi Konadu,2010 What and who constitutes world history What makes a history a world history What is the world with which world history is concerned Can another world be considered Scholars of African birth or descent are acutely absent in the writing of and debates concerning world history inept when it comes to the foregoing questions and invisible in the production of worldly historical knowledge Once known as the continent without history or historical consciousness Africa and its intellectuals represent a much larger segment of the marginalized intellectual world In fact the African Network in Global History founded in 2009 at the University of Ilorin Nigeria is the clearest evidence of African scholars tardy entry into a world history discourse as well as support for studies in world history that address Africa and the world as seen from African perspectives We can only begin to answer the above questions when the former peoples and places without history rewrite world history Certainly the world should constitute and make a world history driven by perspectives on the world rather than a Eurasian world of perspectives In the past three decades writers of world history have focused comparatively on historical themes and recurring processes In their history and traditions writers of world history and their past exemplars share more than a Eurasian origin the older traditions modeled by Herodotus of ancient Greece and Sima Qian of China viewed the world through the superiority of their own societies and current European or white historians honed their views in the context of imperialism and colonialism Implicit in those traditions is that world history research and writing began when Europeans discovered the world outside of Europe Consequently formerly unknown peoples of Africa and the Americas had to fit within Christian frames of history that remained until the twentieth century and in some cases the twenty first century Reading the World combines the strength of recent scholarship and research based monographs the coherency of single authorship and the presentation and somewhat narrative style of textbooks Reading the World provides an intellectually stimulating authoritative and engaging history that is both concise and global in scope and offers a readable introduction to a challenging topic Reading the World also aims to challenge the way readers think about the histories of people and places of the globe and how they and others might interpret or write their own world histories This book does not attempt a grand narrative or provide a recipe textbook with prefabricated questions test banks audiovisual supplements and indigestible sequences of facts and historical events packaged in such a way that you think less and forgo your creativity Rather Reading the World is but one of what should be a number of world history monographs representing an integral contribution from the historically marginalized in worldly historical knowledge and its production engaging in the unfinished and fascinating conversation of a composite world history

Sources of the African Past David Robinson, Douglas K. Smith, 1999 Sources of the African Past combines a case study approach with an emphasis on primary and orally transmitted sources to accomplish three objectives to tell a story in some depth to portray major themes and to raise basic questions of analysis and interpretation The case studies are set in the nineteenth century and deal with critical periods in the fortunes of five societies in different parts of the continent South East and West Africa The authors wish students to work with the raw materials of history and to that end have provided a workbook for a laboratory experience Sources of the African Past is designed for use in a wide variety of courses and in conjunction with other texts The authors have kept their own interpretations to a minimum and invited scrutiny of their decision of selection and arrangement They chose the cases on the basis of several criteria geographical coverage abundance and diversity of primary sources importance in the secondary literature and relevance to important historical problems All the studies emphasize political change All witness some growth in European intervention In selecting the documents the authors sought a balance of perspective without sacrificing accuracy and relevance This means a conscious effort to present a variety of views African and European internal and external participant and observer those of the victims as well as those of the victors those of the people as well as those of the elite Within the limitations of space they have made the excerpts sufficiently long to allow the reader to examine the author's style purpose and other characteristics Keeping in mind the limitations of libraries they have attempted to make each chapter self contained

Encyclopedia of African History and Culture Willie F. Page, 2005 Offers a comprehensive chronologically arranged encyclopedia for the general reader covering all aspects of African history civilization and culture

Sources and Methods in African History Toyin Falola, Christian Jennings, 2003 An overview of the ongoing methods used to understand African history
