Modernism as Memory Kathleen James-Chakraborty, 2018-01-15 After World War II, West Germans and West Berliners found ways of communicating both their recent sufferings and aspirations for stable communities through buildings that fused the ruins of historicist structures with new constructions rooted in the modernism of the 1910s and 20s. As Modernism as Memory illustrates, these postwar practices undergird the approaches later taken in influential structures created or renovated in Berlin following the fall of the Wall, including the Jewish Museum and the Reichstag, the New Museum and the Topography of Terror. While others have characterized contemporary Berlin's museums and memorials as postmodern, Kathleen James-Chakraborty argues that these environments are examples of an architecture of modern memory that is much older, more complex and historically contingent. She reveals that churches and museums repaired and designed before 1989 in Dresden, Hanover, Munich, Neveges, Pforzheim, Stuttgart and Weil am Rhein contributed to a modernist precedent for the relationship between German identity and the past developed since then in the Ruhr region and in Berlin. Modernism as Memory demonstrates that how one remembers can be detached from what one remembers contrasting ruins with recollections of modernism to commemorate German suffering the Holocaust and the industrial revolution as well as new spaces for Islam in the country Disputed Memory Tea Sindbæk Andersen, Barbara Törnquist-Plewa, 2016-06-20 The world wars genocides and extremist ideologies of the 20th century are remembered very differently across Central Eastern and Southeastern Europe resulting sometimes in fierce memory disputes This book investigates the complexity and contention of the layers of memory of the troubled 20th century in the region Written by an international group of scholars from a diversity of disciplines the chapters approach memory disputes in methodologically innovative ways studying representations and negotiations of disputed pasts in different media including monuments museum exhibitions individual and political discourse and electronic social media Analyzing memory disputes in various local national and transnational contexts the chapters demonstrate the political power and social impact of painful and disputed memories The book brings new insights into current memory disputes in Central Eastern and Southeastern Europe It contributes to the understanding of processes of memory transmission and negotiation across borders and cultures in Europe emphasizing the interconnectedness of memory with emotions mediation and politics

The Politics of Haunting and Memory in International Relations Jessica Auchter, 2014-03-21 International Relations has traditionally focused on conflict and war but the effects of violence including dead bodies and memorialization practices have largely been considered beyond the purview of the field Drawing on Jacques Derrida's notion of hauntology to consider the politics of life and death Auchter traces the story of how life and death and a clear division between the two is summoned in the project of statecraft She argues that by letting ourselves be haunted or looking for ghosts it is possible to trace how statecraft relies on the construction of such a dichotomy Three empirical cases offer fertile ground for complicating the picture often painted of memorialization Rwandan genocide memorials the underexplored case of undocumented immigrants who die crossing the US Mexico border and the body ruins nexus in 9 11 memorialization Focusing on the role of dead bodies and the construction of particular spaces as the appropriate sites for memory to be situated it offers an alternative take on the new materialisms movement in international relations by asking after the questions that arise from an ethnographic approach to the subject viewing things from the perspective of dead bodies who occupy the shadowy world of post conflict international politics This work will be of great interest to students and scholars of critical international relations security studies statecraft and memory studies Disciplining Bodies in the Gymnasium Sherry Mckay, Patricia

Vertinsky, 2004-05-06 The prize winning War Memorial Gymnasium at the University of British Columbia is discussed here examining what the building's design construction and shifting functions reveal about the university's values during the post war years Visitors to the House of Memory Victoria Bishop Kendzia, 2017-12-29 As one of the most visited museums in Germany's capital city the Jewish Museum Berlin is a key site for understanding not only German Jewish history but also German identity in an era of unprecedented ethnic and religious diversity Visitors to the House of Memory is an intimate exploration of how young Berliners experience the Museum How do modern students relate to the museum s evocative architecture its cultural political context and its narrative of Jewish history By accompanying a range of high school history students before during and after their visits to the museum this book offers an illuminating exploration of political education affect remembrance and belonging

Uncovering Memory Tanja Sakota, 2023-03 My interest in site specific research is not random My mother escaped through the sewers of Breslau Germany in 1945 today known as Wroclaw Poland My father was born in a country that no longer exists Their final destination was Johannesburg South Africa This is where I enter the narrative I was born during apartheid and my interest in memory and identity is a result of my historical and political context Each one of us comes with a history a complex web of DNA and a library of information that shapes who we are and how we view the world How can we use our own complexities not only to engage with one another but to build it for story content As an artistic researcher filmmaker and educator Tanja Sakota has often thought how to bring this subjective experience into pedagogical practice Using paired themes of memory and forgetting segregation and migration perpetrators and victims Sakota travels along a timeline of memory as she takes us on a journey through South Africa Germany Poland and Bosnia Herzegovina Using a camera and short film techniques she hosts several workshops focused on interacting and engaging with remembering through different memory sites The author sits at the core but the book is an interdisciplinary work shaped around films made by different participants using the camera to access and unveil personal interpretations of space and place Questions that underpin the uncovering of memories are How does one use a camera to unmask invisible memories hidden within sites How does one remember events that one hasn t necessarily experienced How does one use film to interrogate the past from the future present As the journey evolves workshop participants and readers alike enter into a conversation around practice based research autoethnography and film Uncovering Memory is not a handbook offering a prescriptive method Instead it is a pedagogical text that offers an interactive approach for students and peers to consider adapt or react to in their own teaching and learning practices The narrative encourages readers to self reflect as they explore their own memory using the camera and short film format as an engaging tool for research and knowledge production

Prosthetic Memory Alison Landsberg, 2004 Instead of compartmentalizing American experience the technologies of mass culture make it possible for anyone regardless of race ethnicity or gender to share collective memories to assimilate as personal experience historical events through which they themselves did not live That s the provocative argument of this book which examines the formation and potential of privately felt public memories Alison Landsberg argues that mass cultural forms such as cinema and television in fact contain the still unrealized potential for a progressive politics based on empathy for the historical experiences of others The result is a new form of public cultural memory prosthetic memory that awakens the potential in American society for increased social responsibility and political alliances that transcend the essentialism and ethnic particularism of contemporary identity politics

Revisionist Histories Marnie

Hughes-Warrington,2013-07-18 Revision and revisionism are generally seen as standard parts of historical practice yet they are underexplored within the growing literature on historiography In this accessibly written volume Marnie Hughes Warrington discusses this paucity of work on revision in history theory and raises ethical questions about linear models and spatial metaphors that have been used to explain it Revisionist Histories emphasises the role of the authors and audiences of histories alike as the writers and rewriters of history Through study of digital environments graphic novels and reader annotated texts this book shows that the sides of history cannot be disentangled from one another and that they are subject to flux and even destruction over time Incorporating diverse and controversial case studies including the French Revolution Holocaust Denial and European settlers contact with Native Americans and Indigenous Australians Revisionist Histories offers both a detailed account of the development of revisionism and a new more spatial vision of historiography An essential text for students of historiography

Arranging Grief Dana Luciano,2007-11-01 2008 Winner MLA First Book Prize Charting the proliferation of forms of mourning and memorial across a century increasingly concerned with their historical and temporal significance Arranging Grief offers an innovative new view of the aesthetic social and political implications of emotion Dana Luciano argues that the cultural plotting of grief provides a distinctive insight into the nineteenth century American temporal imaginary since grief both underwrote the social arrangements that supported the nation s standard chronologies and sponsored other ways of advancing history Nineteenth century appeals to grief as Luciano demonstrates diffused modes of sacred time across both religious and ostensibly secular frameworks at once authorizing and unsettling established schemes of connection to the past and the future Examining mourning manuals sermons memorial tracts poetry and fiction by Harriet Beecher Stowe William Apess James Fenimore Cooper Catharine Maria Sedgwick Susan Warner Harriet E Wilson Herman Melville Frances E W Harper Frederick Douglass Abraham Lincoln Elizabeth Keckley and Ralph Waldo Emerson Luciano illustrates the ways that grief coupled the affective body to time Drawing on formalist Foucauldian and psychoanalytic criticism Arranging Grief shows how literary engagements with grief put forth ways of challenging deep seated cultural assumptions about history progress bodies and behaviors

The 1857 Indian Uprising and the Politics of Commemoration Sebastian Raj Pender, 2022-05-05 The

Cawnpore Well Lucknow Residency and Delhi Ridge were sacred places within the British imagination of India Sanctified by the colonial administration in commemoration of victory over the Sepoy Mutiny of 1857 they were read as emblems of empire which embodied the central tenets of sacrifice fortitude and military prowess that underpinned Britain's imperial project Since independence however these sites have been rededicated in honour of the First War of Independence and are thus sacred to the memory of those who revolted against colonial rule rather than those who saved it The 1857 Indian Uprising and the Politics of Commemoration tells the story of these and other commemorative landscapes and uses them as prisms through which to view over 150 years of Indian history Based on extensive archival research from India and Britain Sebastian Raj Pender traces the ways in which commemoration responded to the demands of successive historical moments by shaping the events of 1857 from the perspective of the present By telling the history of India through the transformation of mnemonic space this study shows that remembering the past is always a political act

Public Art and the Fragility of Democracy Fred Evans, 2018-11-20 Public space is political space When a work of public art is put up or taken down it is an inherently political statement and the work's aesthetics are inextricably entwined with its political valences Democracy's openness allows public art to explore its values critically and to suggest new ones However it also facilitates artworks that can surreptitiously or fortuitously undermine democratic values Today as bigotry and authoritarianism are on the rise and democratic movements seek to combat them as Confederate monuments fall and sculptures celebrating diversity rise the struggle over the values enshrined in the public arena has taken on a new urgency In this book Fred Evans develops philosophical and political criteria for assessing how public art can respond to the fragility of democracy He calls for considering such artworks as acts of citizenship pointing to their capacity to resist autocratic tendencies and reveal new dimensions of democratic society Through close considerations of Chicago's Millennium Park and New York's National September 11 Memorial Evans shows how a wide range of artworks participate in democratic dialogues A nuanced consideration of contemporary art aesthetics and political theory this book is a timely and rigorous elucidation of how thoughtful public art can contribute to the flourishing of a democratic way of life
