The Therapeutic Process Essays And Lectures:

The Therapeutic Process Karen Horney, 1975-01-01 The Unknown Karen Horney Karen Horney, MD M.D., Karen Horney, 2000-01-01 Contains previously unpublished and uncollected works of Karen Horney Therapeutic Process, 1975 A General Drama of Pain Bernard J. Paris, 2017-07-28 This motivational analysis of the protagonists in Thomas Hardy's three most widely read novels Tess of the d'Urbervilles, The Mayor of Casterbridge and Jude the Obscure highlights an often overlooked aspect of his art. Bernard J. Paris shows Hardy's genius in creating imagined human beings. He demonstrates that while Hardy tends to blame external conditions for his characters' painful fates, their downfalls are due to a very complex combination of cosmic, social, and psychological factors. Hardy's characters are usually discussed primarily in thematic terms. The characters are so richly portrayed, Paris argues, that they can be better understood independent of Hardy's interpretations in motivational terms, and he utilizes the psychologist Karen Horney's theories to recover Hardy's intuitions. The characters are full of inner conflicts that make them difficult to fathom, but the approach Paris employs explains their contradictions and illuminates their troubled relationships, shedding light on these expertly crafted imagined human beings. This psychological approach to Hardy's characters enables us to understand his characters and gain insight into the implied authors of the works. In addition, the approach shows Hardy's authorial personality. We can see that Hardy treats some defensive strategies more sympathetically than others. Given his view of life as a general drama of pain, resignation like that of Hardy's character Elizabeth-Jane is the strategy he prefers. Theory and Practice of Addiction Counseling Pamela S. Lassiter, John R. Culbreth, 2017-03-07 Theory and Practice of Addiction Counseling by Pamela S. Lassiter and John R. Culbreth brings together contemporary theories of addiction and helps readers connect those theories to practice using a common multicultural case study. Theories covered include motivational interviewing, moral theory, developmental theory, cognitive-behavioral theories, attachment theory, and sociological theory. Each chapter focuses on a single theory, describing its basic tenets, philosophical underpinnings, key concepts, and strengths and weaknesses. Each chapter also shows how practitioners using the theory would respond to a common case study, giving readers the opportunity to compare how the different theoretical approaches are applied to client situations. A final chapter discusses approaches to relapse prevention. Heaven and Its Discontents Bernard J. Paris, 2017-09-08 Many critics agree with C. S. Lewis that Satan is the best drawn of Milton's characters. Satan is certainly a wonderful creation, but Adam and Eve are also complex and well drawn, and God may be the most complicated character of all. Paradise Lost is above all God's story; it is his discontent, first with Lucifer and then with human beings, that drives the action from the beginning until his anger subsides at the world's end. God and Satan have similarities not only in their pursuit of revenge but also in their craving for power and glory. The ambitious Satan wants more than he already has, but what accounts for the voracity of God's appetite? Does the fact that each threatens the status of the other help to explain the intensity of their hatred and rage? Is their vindictiveness a response to being threatened an effort to repair the injury they feel they've sustained. This seems to be the case for Satan but must not. God also have felt deeply hurt to have such a powerful need for vengeance. If so, why is the Almighty so vulnerable? And why is he so hard on Adam and Eve and the rest of humankind? These are the kinds of questions Bernard Paris tries to answer in this book. Paris's purpose is not to focus on Milton's illustrative intentions but to try to understand God, Satan, Adam, and Eve as psychologically motivated characters who are torn by inner conflicts. Most critics treat Milton's characters as coded messages from the author but their mimetic features interfere with the process of decoding. Instead of looking through the characters to the author, Paris looks at Milton's characters as objects of interest in themselves as creations inside a creation who escape their thematic roles and are embodiments of his psychological intuitions. This book heightens our appreciation of an ignored aspect of Milton's art and offers new insights into the critical controversies that have surrounded Paradise Lost.

Transformative Learning through Creative Life Writing Celia Hunt, 2013-06-26. Arising from a research project conducted over two years, Transformative Learning through Creative Life Writing examines the effects of fictional autobiography on adult learners' sense of self. Starting from a teaching and learning perspective, Hunt draws together ideas from psychodynamic psychotherapy, literary and learning theory, and work in the cognitive and neurosciences of the self and consciousness to argue that creative life writing undertaken in a supportive learning environment alongside opportunities for critical reflection has the power to transform the way people think and learn. It does this by opening them up to a more embodied self-experience which increases their awareness of the source of their thinking in bodily feeling and enables them to develop a more reflexive approach to learning. Hunt locates this work within recent developments in the influential field of transformative learning. She also identifies it as a form of therapeutic education, arguing contrary to those who say that this approach leads to a diminished sense of self that it can help people to develop a stronger sense of agency, whether for writing or learning or relations with others. Topics covered include: Creative writing as a tool for personal and professional development; The transformative benefits and challenges of creative writing as a therapeutic activity; The relationships between literary structures and the processes of thinking and feeling; The role of cognitive-emotional learning in adult education; Collaborative learning and the role of the group. This book will interest teachers in adult, further, and higher education who wish to use creative life writing as a tool for learning, as well as health care professionals seeking art-based techniques for use in their practice. It will also prove useful to academics interested in the relationship between education and psychotherapy and in the theory and practice of transformative learning. Additionally, it will appeal to writers seeking a deeper understanding of the creative process.

Dostoevsky's Greatest Characters B. Paris, 2008-02-04. Addressed to all readers of Dostoevsky as well as to teachers, students, and specialists, this lucidly written study approaches the underground man, Raskolnikov, and Ivan and Alyosha Karamazov as lucidly imagined beings whose feelings, behaviours, and ideas are expressions of their personalities and experience.

The Odyssey Experience Neil J. Smelser, 2009-03-05. The Odyssey

Experience puts forward the view that a journey as encapsulated by the journey of Odysseus provides a fundamental and archetypal human experience and develops a theory of this experience through personal experiences and a wide range of salient phenomena There is a vast literature inspired by The Odyssey but the way that Smelser approaches the subject is entirely unique Yiannis Gabriel University of London Smelser draws together studies of an astonishing range of diverse topics and subsumes them under a single coherent powerful overarching concept the odyssey experience I believe his book will lead to the establishment of an entirely new field of study in the social and behavioral sciences that will open up new and promising lines of theory and research that until now have not been possible Robert Scott Associate Director emeritus Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences

The Perfection Trap Thomas Curran, 2024-05-07 A highly regarded professor of psychology at the London School of Economics sharing contemporary evidence explores how the pursuit of perfection can lead to burnout and depression and shows what we can do to resist the modern day pressure to be perfect to lead a more purposeful and contented life

How to Rethink Human Behavior Bernard Guerin, 2016-05-20 Developed from the author's long teaching career How to Rethink Human Behavior aims to cultivate practical skills in human observation and analysis rather than offer a catalogue of immutable facts It synthesizes key psychological concepts with insights from other disciplines including sociology social anthropology economics and history The skills detailed in the book will help readers to observe people in their contexts and to analyze what they observe in order to make better sense of why people do what they do say what they say and think what they think These methods can also be applied to our own thoughts talk and actions not as something we control from within but as events constantly being shaped by the idiosyncratic social cultural economic and other contexts in which our lives are immersed Whether teaching studying or reading for pleasure this book will help readers learn How to think about people with ecological or contextual thinking How your thinking is a conversation with other people How to analyze talk and conversations as social strategies How capitalist economies change how you act talk and think in 25 ways How living in modern society can be linked to generalized anxiety and depression How to Rethink Human Behavior is important interdisciplinary reading for students and researchers in all fields of social science and will especially appeal to those interested in mental health It has also been written for the general reading public who enjoy exploring new ideas and skills in understanding themselves and other people

Bargains with Fate Maria Jarosz, 2017-09-08 The enduring appeal of Shakespeare's works derives largely from the fact that they contain brilliantly drawn characters Interpretations of these characters are products of changing modes of thought and thus past explanations of their behavior including Shakespeare's no longer satisfy us In this work Bernard J Paris an eminent Shakespearean scholar shows how Shakespeare endowed his tragic heroes with enduring human qualities that have made them relevant to people of later eras Bargains with Fate employs a psychoanalytic approach inspired by the theories of Karen Horney to analyze Shakespeare's four major tragedies and the personality that can be inferred from all of his works This compelling study first examines the tragedies as dramas about individuals with conflicts like our own who are in a state of crisis due to the breakdown of their bargains with fate a belief that they can magically control their destinies by living up to the dictates of their defensive strategies Filled with bold hypotheses supported by carefully detailed accounts this innovative study is a resource for students and scholars of Shakespeare and for those interested in literature as a source of psychological insight The author s combination of literary and psychoanalytic perspectives guides us to a humane understanding of Shakespeare and his protagonists and in turn to a more profound knowledge of ourselves and human behavior Conrad's Charlie

Marlow B. Paris,2015-12-11 This study argues that Conrad portrays Marlow and his relationships with a psychological depth that is unsurpassed in literature In Youth Heart of Darkness and Lord Jim he is a continuously evolving character whose thoughts feelings and behaviours are expressions of his personality and experience Karen Horney and Character

Disorder Irving Solomon, PhD,2005-09-07 Who is Karen Horney and why are her psychoanalytic ideas so important in today s world of once per week dynamic psychotherapy Horney was one of the first analysts to challenge basic Freudian assertions such as the psychoanalytic account of female development She had a revolutionary focus on present oriented treatment and a powerfully optimistic attitude toward patient growth and change This book introduces defines and illustrates the major tenets of Horney s theory and technique discusses Horney s means of fostering an optimistic attitude that strengthens therapy between therapist and the patient demonstrates the special suitability and the effectiveness of Horney s ideas as they are applied to character disorder and to today s most frequent form of treatment once per week session psychotherapy presents criticisms of Horney s ideas Dr Irving Solomon prepares practitioners to conduct Horneyan therapy and successfully treat character disorder the most common dysfunction of our time Dr Solomon presents in a concise and organized fashion Karen Horney s ideas regarding character psychopathology accompanied by many illustrative vignettes for practical application Today s clinician will find that Horney s orientation provides a means of conducting brief treatment that is also meaningfully deep This book will be of interest to mental health professionals as well as to lay individuals who seek knowledge of the self since it realistically vividly and authoritatively touches on a multitude of common easily recognized character trends that destructively complicate our well being Narcissistic States and the Therapeutic Process , existential issues and emotionality this book explores grief as a social emotion bringing together contributions from scholars across the social sciences and humanities to examine its social and cultural aspects Thematically organised in order to consider the historical changes in our understanding of grief literary treatments of grief contemporary forms of grief and grief as a perspective from which to engage in critique of society it provides insights into the sociality of grief and will appeal to scholars of sociology social theory and cultural studies with interests in the emotions and social pathologies

Perfectionism , Psychological Realism in 19th Century Fiction Debashish Sen,2019-12-10 This book is a study of psychological realism in select works from nineteenth century fiction namely Fathers and Sons Anna Karenina The Mill on the Floss and Jane Eyre It shows how psychoanalytic theories may be applied to illuminate various aspects of the psyches of characters in these texts The book provides evidence that theories like John Bowlby s Attachment Theory and Karen Horney s Personality Theory can go a long way in enhancing our understanding of literary characters the meaning of the text its relation to its creator and the author s psychology As such it brings forth a novel view of literary criticism and will serve to convince the reader that a critical approach devoid and dismissive of the psychological aspect is incomplete and hurts literary criticism on the whole

Turning Mental Health into Social Action Bernard Guerin,2020-07-19 This book offers a refreshing new approach to mental health by showing how mental health behaviours lived experiences and our interventions arise from our social worlds and not from our neurophysiology gone wrong It is part of a trilogy which offers a new way of doing psychology focusing on people s social and societal environments as determining their behaviour rather than internal and individualistic attributions Mental health behaviours are carefully analysed as ordinary behaviours which have become exaggerated and chronic because of the bad life situations people are forced to endure especially as children This shifts mental health treatments away from the dominance of psychology and psychiatry to show that social action is needed because many of these bad life situations are produced by our modern society itself By providing new ways for readers to rethink everything they thought they knew about mental health issues and how to change them Bernard Guerin also explores how by changing our environmental contexts our local societal and discursive worlds we can improve mental health interventions This book reframes mental health into a much wider social context to show how societal structures restrict our opportunities and pathways to produce bad life situations and how we can also learn from those who manage to deal with the very same bad life situations through crime bullying exploitation and dropping out of mainstream society rather than through the mental health behaviours By merging psychology and psychiatry into the social sciences Guerin seeks to better understand how humans operate in their social cultural economic patriarchal discursive and societal worlds rather than being isolated inside their heads with a faulty brain and this will provide fascinating reading for academics and students in psychology and the social sciences and for counsellors and therapists

Turning Psychology into Social Contextual Analysis Bernard Guerin,2020-07-19 This groundbreaking book shows how we can build a better understanding of people by merging psychology with the social sciences It is part of a trilogy that offers a new way of doing psychology focusing on people's social and societal environments as determining their behaviour rather than internal and individualistic attributions Putting the social properly back into psychology Bernard Guerin turns psychology inside out to offer a more integrated way of thinking about and researching people Going back 60 years of psychology's history to the cognitive revolution Guerin argues that psychology made a mistake and demonstrates in fascinating new ways how to instead fully contextualize the topics of psychology and merge with the social sciences Covering perception emotion language thinking and social behaviour the book seeks to guide readers to observe how behaviours are shaped by their social cultural economic patriarchal colonized historical and other contexts Our brain neurophysiology and body are still involved as important interfaces but human actions do not originate inside of people so we will never find the answers in our neurophysiology Replacing the internal origins of behaviour with external social contextual analyses the book even argues that thinking is not done by you in your head but arises from our external social cultural and discursive worlds Offering a refreshing new approach to better understand how humans operate in their social cultural economic discursive and societal worlds rather than inside their heads and how we might have to rethink our approaches to neuropsychology as well this is fascinating reading for students in psychology and the social sciences
