Asylum and Extraction in the Republic of Nauru Julia Caroline Morris, 2023-02-15 Asylum and Extraction in the Republic of Nauru provides an extraordinary glimpse into the remote and difficult to access island of Nauru exploring the realities of Nauru's offshore asylum arrangement and its impact on islanders' workforces and migrant populations. Drawing on extensive fieldwork in Nauru, Australia, and Geneva, as well as a deep dive into the British Phosphate Commission archives, Julia Caroline Morris charts the island's colonial connection to phosphate through to a new industrial sector in asylum. She explores how this extractive industry is peopled by an ever-shifting cast of refugee lawyers, social workers, clinicians, policy makers, and academics globally, and how the very structures of Nauru's colonial phosphate industry and the legacy of the phosphate era made it easy for a new human extractive sector to take root on the island. By detailing the making of and social life of Nauru's asylum system, Morris shows the institutional fabric, discourses, and rhetoric that inform the governance of migration around the world. As similar practices of offshoring and outsourcing asylum have become popular worldwide, they are enabled by the mobile labor and expertise of transnational refugee industry workers who carry out the necessary daily operations. Asylum and Extraction in the Republic of Nauru goes behind the scenes to shed light on the everyday running of the offshore asylum industry in Nauru and uncover what really happens underneath the headlines. Morris illuminates how refugee rights activism and Refugees Welcome style movements are caught up in the hardening of border enforcement operations worldwide, calling for freedom of movement that goes beyond adjudicating hierarchies of suffering.

NAURU BURNING MARK ISAACS, 2016-05-20 On 19 July 2013, a riot occurred at the Nauru Regional Processing Centre. Fires destroyed most of the centre, causing more than 60 million in damage. Nauru Burning is the story behind the fires and of the aftermath.

Refugee Lives in the Archives Gillian Whitlock, 2024-07-25 This book introduces the unique archive of letters, textiles, hand-drawn maps, emails, and photographs from asylum seekers held indefinitely in offshore detention at Topside Camp, Nauru, 2001-5. These artefacts introduce the distinctive and creative forms of resistance produced by asylum seekers in the remote Pacific camps on Nauru and Manus Island, and they expose their experiential histories of radical suffering and trauma. Paying due deference to the creative and aesthetic agency of these various documents and artefacts created by the undocumented here, Gillian Whitlock generates a cultural biography of the Nauru camp that humanizes those who have remained unseen and unheard and features the activist campaigns and the political resistance that assert the agency of witnessing refugees. Structured around the collections of various artefacts exchanged between detainees and humanitarian activists, Refugee Lives in the Archives draws on emerging theories from detention centres and the asylum seekers themselves in a distinctive and expansive Pacific imaginary of refugee life narrative. Building on Whitlock's substantial body of work in testimonial documentary and archive practices, this book focuses on the testimony of things and probes an approach to archival studies that moves life writing in new directions to respond collaboratively to the diverse materiality of story telling and exchanges in the unique and creative forms of asylum seekers voices stories and epistemologies

Offshore Madeline Gleeson, 2016-05-01 What has happened on Nauru and Manus since Australia began its most recent offshore processing regime in 2012 This essential book provides a comprehensive and uncompromising overview of the first three years of offshore processing since it recommenced in 2012 It explains why offshore processing was re established what life is like for asylum seekers and refugees on Nauru and Manus what asylum seekers refugees and staff in the offshore detention centres have to say about what goes on there and why the truth has been so hard to find In doing so it goes behind the rumours and allegations to reveal what is known and what still is not known about Australia s offshore detention centres

Forced Displacement and NGOs in Asia and the Pacific Gül İnanc, Themba Lewis, 2022-01-25 This volume presents a comprehensive survey of the dynamics of conflict and climate induced forced displacement and organisational response across Asia and the Pacific The Asia Pacific region hosts some of the largest numbers of displaced people on the planet with some of the fewest protections available and sparse frameworks for advancing rights livelihood and policy The region maintains the lowest number of signatory states to international refugee protection covenants and the majority of national protection and support systems are ad hoc precarious and unpredictable Civil society has very often filled in the gaps but with the rise of nationalist rhetoric civil society space has been shrinking Drawing upon the expertise of academics practitioners historians theorists policy makers political scientists economists and the voices of affected communities across the region this book examines both key case studies and larger regional trends This book is a valuable resource for scholars and practitioners looking to understand the complexities of responses to refugees and forced migrants in the Asia Pacific Region

Managing the Undesirables Michel Agier, 2011 An impassioned and tireless explorer of useless and hence undesirable populations Michel Agier asks here about their future how can they be returned to the human family brought back from non existence into the social world from the camp to the town from a life without time into history How can they rediscover a place on the map of the world and pass from the status of reject to that of subject Urgent and indispensable reading for all who reflect on action to be taken or are called on to take such action Zygmunt Bauman

We Are Better Than This Robyn Cadwallader, 2015-10-07 We Are Better Than This is a collection of essays and poetry addressing the Australian government s asylum seeker policy The aims of the book are several to provide some of the information about the situation in detention camps that is being withheld by the government to correct some of the government s misrepresentations of the current situation to clarify some of the complex legal issues surrounding the right to seek asylum and to give some insight into the plight of those who are seeking asylum It is hoped that this book will better inform people about the government s policies to support those who are unsatisfied and seeking to change the situation as well as those who are uncertain and need more easily accessible and reliable information Contributors are drawn from

Intimate Economies of Immigration Detention Deirdre Conlon,Nancy Hiemstra,2016-08-05 International migration has been described as one of the defining issues of the twenty first century While a lot is known about the complex nature of migratory flows surprisingly little attention has been given to one of the most prominent responses by governments to human mobility the practice of immigration detention Intimate Economies of Immigration Detention provides a timely intervention offering much needed scrutiny of the ideologies policies and practices that enable the troubling unparalleled and seemingly unbridled growth of immigration detention around the world An international collection of scholars provide crucial new insights into immigration detention recounting at close range how detention s effects ricochet from personal and everyday experiences to broader political economic social and cultural spheres Contributors draw on original research in the US Australia Europe and beyond to scrutinise the increasingly tangled relations associated with detention operation and migration management With new theoretical and empirical perspectives on detention the chapters collectively present a toolbox for better understanding the forces behind and broader implications of the seemingly uncontested rise of immigration detention This book is of great interest to those who study political economy economic geography and immigration policy as well as policy makers interested in immigration Postcolonial Literatures of Climate Change, 2022-07-04 Postcolonial Literatures of Climate Change investigates the evolving nature of postcolonial literary criticism in response to global regional and local environmental transformations brought about by climate change. It builds upon and extends previous studies in postcolonial ecocriticism to demonstrate how the growing awareness of human caused global warming has begun to permeate literary consciousness praxis and analysis. The breadth of the volume's coverage, the diversity of its focal locations, cultures, genres, and texts serves as a salient reminder that while climate change is global, its impacts vary, affecting peoples from place to place, unequally and often in accordance with their particular historical experience of colonialism and neo colonialism, as well as their ongoing marginalisations. Demonstrating the urgency of invoking novel epistemological approaches combining the scientific and the imaginative, this book is a must read for those concerned about the present and potential impacts of climate change on formerly colonised areas of the world. The comprehensive and illuminating Introduction offers a crucial history and current state of postcolonial ecocriticism as it has been and is addressing climate crises. Helen Tiffin, University of Wollongong. The broad focus on the polar regions, the Pacific, and the Caribbean, with added essays on environmental justice activism in India and Egypt, opens up rich terrain for examination under the rubric of postcolonial and ecocritical analysis, not only expanding recent studies in this field but also enabling new comparisons and conceptual linkages. Helen Gilbert, Royal Holloway, University of London. The subject is topical and vital and will become even more so as the problem of how to reconcile the demands of climate change with the effects on regions and individual nations already damaged by the economic effects of colonisation and the subsequent inequalities resulting from neo colonialism continues to grow. Gareth Griffiths, Em Prof, University of Western Australia.

Inequality, Innovation and Reform in Higher Education Maria Slowey, Hans G. Schuetze, Tanya Zubrzycki, 2020-04-10. An important backdrop to the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals involves consideration of the impact of a new demographics derived from the interaction of two global developments. First, high levels of internal and cross border mass migration stimulated by climate change, violence, and disparities in wealth and social stability within and between different countries and the global South and North. Second, the phenomenon of increasing longevity and rapidly ageing populations, especially in the developed world. This book explores the central role that socially engaged higher education might potentially play in helping address these challenges, enhancing lifelong learning opportunities, and facilitating more positive outcomes for both individuals and societies. The contributors to this book are scholars of higher education and lifelong learning based in twelve countries from Europe: Germany, Ireland, Slovenia, Sweden, and the United Kingdom; the Americas: Brazil, Canada, Mexico; and the USA, Japan, Australia, and New Zealand. This is an extremely timely and important collection focusing on growing migration and an increase in ageing populations, two major social trends that researchers in higher education often overlook. The multi level analysis of the role that higher education can play, together with the contributions from 12 countries in the North and South, make this one of the most outstanding
