Understanding Nonsuicidal Self Injury Origins Assessment And Treatment:

Understanding Nonsuicidal Self-injury Matthew Nock, 2009-01-01 This is one of the first studies to describe the practice of performance psychology. It blends theory and practice by integrating literature reviews with real world applications for a broad range of clients. It provides extensive session transcripts including consultants' thoughts and reactions throughout each session.

The Oxford Handbook of Nonsuicidal Self-Injury Elizabeth Lloyd-Richardson, Imke Baetens, Janis L. Whitlock, 2024 The Oxford Handbook of Nonsuicidal Self Injury is a compendium of up to date research and knowledge of topics germane to the field of nonsuicidal self injury NSSI. Edited by renowned scholars Elizabeth E Lloyd Richardson, Imke Baetens, and Janis L Whitlock, the handbook brings together cutting edge research from a group of internationally distinguished scholars. It covers a wide array of topics including epidemiology, function, neurophysiological processes, lived experience, and intervention and prevention approaches. This comprehensive text will serve as a go to guide for scholars, clinicians, and anyone with interest in understanding, treating, and preventing self injury.

Advancing Theory of Suicide and Non-Suicidal Self-Injury Kathryn Jane Gardner, Edward A. Selby, E. David Klonsky, 2022-01-12

Cutting and Self-Harm Chris Simpson Ph.D., 2015-09-29 What is self harm and what causes it? Learn the terms and concepts related to this type of behavior. Non suicidal self injury has been in existence to some extent for centuries. Today the practices are increasing in terms of the number of people engaging in this often baffling behavior. By the use of accessible language, rich descriptions of concepts, and realistic case examples, Cutting and Self Harm seeks to demystify these behaviors that afflict self injuring individuals and negatively impact their family members and friends. Author Chris Simpson PhD has written and presented on the subject of self harm since 2001. He begins the book by answering the question: What is cutting and self harm and how does it occur, and by explaining important terms and concepts related to the behavior. He then covers current controversies about self harming behaviors and addresses frequently confusing topics such as the contributing factors to self injury, psychopharmacological treatment of the behavior, and the use of group therapeutic approaches in treatment facilities. The final section of the book presents additional resources for those impacted by self injury.

The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology Thomas H. Ollendick, Susan Williams White, Bradley A. White, 2019 International in scope and with contributions from the field's most eminent scientists and practitioners, The Oxford Handbook of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology is a state of the science volume providing comprehensive coverage of the psychological problems and disorders of childhood.

Translating Psychological Research Into Practice Lisa Grossman, Lisa R. Grossman, Steven Walfish, 2013-11-15 It is only through the development of true partnerships between researchers and clinicians that mental health treatment can achieve an optimal level of success. This highly accessible desk reference will assist clinicians in easily incorporating findings from current evidence based research into their day to day practice. It bridges the gap between empirical research and the needs of practicing clinicians and clinicians in training. The guide brings together respected researchers and clinicians to discuss approaches to treating over 60 problem areas for adults adolescents and children It provides concise easily digestible summaries of the most current evidence based research regarding interventions for many of the most common clinical disorders and mental health issues encountered in everyday clinical practice These summaries present research that has been translated by experienced clinicians into practical applications that can be easily incorporated in therapeutic practice Research coverage of each problem area includes Brief description Incidence prevalence data Summary findings of best practices for treatment Suggestions for research directions Key references for further consultation The corresponding clinical application includes Response to the research summary Case example that applies the evidence based research to clinical practice Identification of challenges and cultural considerations in applying these interventions Suggestions for future research Key references By presenting the perspectives of the mental health researcher and clinician side by side this reference facilitates an important dialogue that narrows the gap between research and practice and ultimately fosters better mental health outcomes for clients Key Features Covers over 60 of the most frequently encountered disorders and issues for both adult and pediatric clients that mental health clinicians face today Brings together leading researchers and clinicians to discuss their approaches to treating a clinical problem area Summarizes the current research on treatments in each problem area Interprets research for clinicians offering practice wisdom that helps them become more effective evidence based practitioners

The Oxford Handbook of Suicide and Self-injury Matthew Nock, 2014 This handbook provides a comprehensive summary of the most important and exciting advances in our understanding of suicide and self injury and our ability to predict and prevent it Prevention Targeting Mental Health and Nonsuicidal Self-injury in Adolescents Erik Aspegqvist, 2025-05-07 Adolescent mental health is today a topic raising great concern and reports of rising rates of mental health problems have led some to call the situation a mental health crisis In parallel with this there has been a realization that nonsuicidal self injury NSSI is something affecting an increasingly large share of adolescents The fact that resources are limited together with the knowledge of the burden of mental health problems have spurred a great interest in prevention Schools are seen as arenas with great potential for deploying preventive interventions targeting adolescents The available evidence for such interventions is however limited and there is a need to better understand how they could be more effective The present thesis aims to contribute to the scientific knowledge about school based mental health prevention by investigating the effects of a whole school prevention program to explore adolescents experiences of taking part in such a program and to shed light on heterogeneity among adolescents with a history of NSSI as well as mechanisms underlying engagement in NSSI In Study I the aim was to investigate emotion regulation and trauma symptoms as potential mediators of the association between childhood abuse and NSSI In a sample N 3 169 of data from community adolescents mediation was investigated using structural equation modeling Both emotion regulation and trauma symptoms were found to partly mediate the relationship between childhood abuse and NSSI and together to mediate this association completely Study conclusions were that emotion regulation and trauma symptoms seem to be what drives NSSI rather than experiences of childhood abuse themselves Study II aimed to investigate characteristics of the subgroups of adolescents acknowledging NSSI when answering a dichotomous yes no question versus a checklist with NSSI behaviors in a sample N 266 of community adolescents These groups were found to be large and to differ from each other in several respects with implications both in clinical and research settings Further cluster analysis was employed in order to identify subgroups among adolescents with NSSI and finding such subgroups to be different from each other it was concluded that there was a need for greater awareness of the heterogeneity within NSSI In Study III the effects of a whole school preventive intervention were evaluated in longitudinal data from the same sample as in Study II N 183 with complete data from three points of measurement harnessing the cluster randomized controlled design of the overall project Effects were found on NSSI frequency which decreased at post intervention and on Stigma Awareness which increased Conclusions of Study III was that a whole school preventive intervention can be effective in reducing NSSI frequency and in increasing adolescents awareness of mental health stigma Study IV was a qualitative group interview study employing thematic analysis in order to explore adolescents experiences of taking part in the whole school preventive intervention as well as their perspectives on mental health Key findings were the identification of a autonomy help seeking dilemma and the perceived need of interventions targeting mental health among adolescents In conclusion the present thesis adds to the knowledge about prevention targeting NSSI and mental health among adolescents by documenting effects of a whole school prevention program Further the thesis provides insights related to school based prevention including adolescents experiences information on NSSI measurement and subgroups among individuals with a history of NSSI
