The pace of our daily life has been increasing for several decades

Our needs have multiplied as new products have appeared and then been replaced after a few years or even months of existence by a more fashionable product or one of higher performance

The life cycles of the technologies used in consumer and professional electronic products are also becoming shorter

This acceleration is an inherent fact of our consumer society and the relationship between people and machines are Lifestyles due to the multiplicity of ephemeral consumer products

Objects changing no longer have a history they are merely tools which fulfil a predetermined function

Personal portable products are of a new type which has appeared among pens wallets these impersonal objects

This category includes watches handbags calculators portable radios and pocket telephones

As these products for the pocket are carried on one s person they belong in a very personal way and have therefore a specific identity corresponding to the image which they are given

In the evolution of lifestyles the explosive increase of travel and time management are major factors

The pocket telephone is therefore remark able for two reasons

It is not only an impersonal tool or product but is also very much a personal portable product

The possibility of distant com munication while travelling being able to call or be called at will anywhere at any time permits the pocket telephone to be often considered as a desirable almost magic personal item
