The radically materialist posthumanist and performative position from which this situated aesthetics of technospaces is elaborated aligns this book not only with non-representational theory but also with the theories of material feminism, feminist geography, situated epistemologies, science and technology studies, actor network theory, performance studies, and new media studies.

Topics addressed also include morbidity and health profiles and transitions, as well as policies and programs concerned with these and other issues. The volume touches on some of the major links between population and societal dynamics. It addresses demographic patterns and issues from micro-level, meso-level, and macro-level perspectives and helps put into focus the past, present, and future of the mutual relations between population dynamics and societal responses.
