Teckyoung Kwon, 2024-04-15. Psychology in the Fiction of Henry James: Memory, Emotions, and Empathy focuses on the study of consciousness, also examines new ways to read fiction from a scientific perspective, one that draws upon early psychological theories and recent neuroscientific research. Freud and William James stand together as intellectual pioneers who contributed to our understanding of the revolutionary concept of consciousness. Meanwhile, Henry James devoted his life to the development of narrative methods that would extend the realm of Realism, a pursuit that led him to draw upon consciousness and experience alike. When examining these three figures, the key components of consciousness that they shared in common turn out to be memory, emotions, and empathy. This volume deals with theoretical works on those three concepts by the works of Freud, William James, and recent neuroscientists, as well as two narrative techniques Henry James devised to represent consciousness: ghosts and Free Indirect Discourse. Additionally, this book is an analysis of Henry's major fictions to show how those scientific terms have been used to achieve a fresh reading of his novels. Overall, this volume demonstrates that the three components are elements in the dual aspect monism that Freud proposed earlier. Infertilities Robin Truth Goodman, 2001 In today s global market ideas about family femininity and reproduction are traded on as actively as any currency or stock The connection has a history one rooted in a conception of feminine identities invented through a science interwoven with the pursuit of empire the accumulation of goods and the furtherance of power It is this history that Robin Truth Goodman exposes in her analysis of literary and political representations of female infertility from the mid nineteenth century to our day Goodman takes Darwin s studies on sterility between species as her starting point exploring evolutionary science as the intersection of a colonial worldview based on class struggle and the pathologizing of female identities that fall outside of reproductive normalcy She then examines how Joseph Conrad constructs a vision of feminism as a product of miscegenation how Alejo Carpentier and Mario Vargas Llosa deploy female figures of miscegenation to recast Latin American literature as difference and how ecological devastation in the Brazilian Amazon is envisioned through failures in Indian marriage Locating points of conjunction between queer feminist and postcolonial theories Infertilities points to the role of lesbian representation and reproductive politics in ongoing critiques of globalism BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

The Supernatural in Short Fiction of the Americas Dana Del George, 2001-08-30 The continuing cultural encounters of the Americas between European and indigenous cultures and between scientific materialism and premodern supernaturalism have originated new narrative forms While supernatural short fiction of the Americas belongs to the broad category of the fantastic which is generally approached synchronically reading audiences of the past 200 years have shifted their beliefs about the supernatural several times While nineteenth century readers understood science as real and the supernatural as imaginary modern audiences recognize both as inaccurate a shift which allows authors of supernatural fiction to celebrate premodern indigenous beliefs which were once disdained by a materialist culture This book situates supernatural short fiction of the Americas within the changing cultural and epistemological contexts of the last 200 years and explores how authors have drawn upon a wealth of indigenous traditions The book begins with a discussion of theories of the supernatural and the fantastic It then looks at some of the first encounters of European and Native American supernatural beliefs and points to the common elements of these early traditions The volume next focuses on American literature of the nineteenth century which has a complex fusion of materialist biases and metaphysical fascinations The final portion of the book gives greater attention to Spanish American literature and the blending of the supernatural with attitudes of nostalgia and uncertainty
