The words turned the mind of the mother of the angel child She looked up her eyes blazing Frock she repeated Frock What do I care for her frock Frock she choked out again from the depths of her bitterness Then she arose suddenly and whirled tragically upon her husband Look she declaimed All her lovely hair all her lovely hair gone gone The painter was apparently in a fit his jaw was set his eyes were glazed his body was stiff and straight All gone all her lovely hair all gone my poor little darlin my poor little darlin And the angel child added her heart broken voice to her mother's wail as they fled into each other's arms We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience Whilomville Stories (Illustrated), War Is Kind and the Monster and Other Stories house across the street to be treated but while it is thought that Dr Trescott and Jimmie will survive their injuries Henry is pronounced as good as dead he is mourned as a hero by the town The Monster and Other Stories Stephen Crane, 2017-05-08 The Monster is an 1898 novella by American author Stephen Crane 1871 1900 The story takes place in the small fictional town of Whilomville New York An African American coachman named Henry Johnson who is employed by the town's physician Dr Trescott becomes horribly disfigured after he saves Trescott's son from a fire When Henry is branded a monster by the town's residents Trescott vows to shelter and care for him resulting in his family's exclusion from the community The novella reflects upon the 19th century social divide and ethnic tensions in America The fictional town of Whilomville which is used in 14 other Crane stories was based on Port Jervis New York where Crane lived with his family for a few years during his youth It is thought that he took inspiration from several local men who were similarly disfigured although modern critics have made numerous connections between the story and the 1892 lynching in Port Jervis of an African American man named Robert Lewis A study of prejudice fear and isolation in a rather small town the novella was first published in Harper's Magazine in August 1898 A year later it was included in The Monster and Other Stories the last collection of Crane's work to be published during his lifetime Written in a more exact and less dramatic style than two of his previous major works Maggie A Girl of the Streets and The Red Badge of Courage The Monster differs from the other Whilomville stories in its scope and length Its themes include the paradoxical study of monstrosity and deformity as well as race and tolerance While the novella and collection received mixed reviews from contemporary critics The Monster is now considered one of Crane's best works PLOT After being admonished by his father Dr Ned Trescott for damaging a peony while playing in his family's yard young Jimmie Trescott visits his family's coachman Henry Johnson Henry who is described as a very handsome negro known to be a light weight and an eminence in the suburb of the town 20 is friendly toward Jimmie Later that evening Henry dresses smartly and saunters through town inciting catcalls from friends and ridicule from the local white men on his way to call on the young Bella Farragut who is extremely taken with him That same evening a large crowd gathers in the park to hear a band play Suddenly the nearby factory whistle blows to alert the townspeople of a fire in the second district of the town men gather hose carts and head toward the blaze that is quickly spreading throughout Dr Trescott's house Mrs Trescott is saved by a neighbor but cannot locate Jimmie who is trapped inside Henry appears from the crowd and rushes into the house in search of the boy finding him unharmed in his bedroom Unable to retreat the way he came Henry carries Jimmie wrapped in a blanket to the doctor's laboratory and the hidden stairway that leads outside He discovers the fire has blocked this way out as well and collapses beside Dr Trescott's desk A row of nearby jars shatters from the heat spilling molten chemicals upon Henry's upturned face Stephen Crane November 1 1871 June 5 1900 was an American poet novelist and short story writer Prolific throughout his short life he wrote notable works in the Realist tradition as well as early examples of American Naturalism and Impressionism He is recognized by modern critics as one of the most
