Transcending Reflections Of Crime Victims:

Transcending Howard Zehr, 2009-07-10 Presents the stories of crime victims describing the thoughts emotions and actions surrounding their unforgettable experiences Moral Repair Margaret Urban Walker, 2006-09-18 Moral Repair examines the ethics and moral psychology of responses to wrongdoing Explaining the emotional bonds and normative expectations that keep human beings responsive to moral standards and responsible to each other Margaret Urban Walker uses realistic examples of both personal betrayal and political violence to analyze how moral bonds are damaged by serious wrongs and what must be done to repair the damage Focusing on victims of wrong their right to validation and their sense of justice Walker presents a unified and detailed philosophical account of hope trust resentment forgiveness and making amends the emotions and practices that sustain moral relations Moral Repair joins a multidisciplinary literature concerned with transitional and restorative justice reparations and restoring individual dignity and mutual trust in the wake of serious wrongs Victims Ross McGarry, Sandra Walklate, 2015-06-05 The study of victims of crime is a central concern for criminologists around the world In recent years some victimologists have become increasingly engaged in positivist debates on the differences between victims and non victims how these differences can be measured and what could be done to improve the victims experience of the criminal justice system Written by experts in the field this book embraces a much wider understanding of social harms and asks which victims voices are heard and why McGarry and Walklate break new ground with this innovative and accessible book it offers a broad discussion of social harms the role of the victim in society and the inter relationship between trauma testimony and justice and asks how has harm been understood and under what circumstances have those harms been recognised how and under what circumstances are those harms articulated how and under what circumstances are the voices of those who have been harmed listened to Each chapter draws on case studies and a range of questions designed to assist in reflection and critical engagement This book is perfect reading for students taking courses on victimology victims and society victims rights and criminal justice Trauma-Informed Juvenile Justice in the United States Judah Oudshoorn, 2016-08-23 Most youth who come in conflict with the law have experienced some form of trauma yet many justice professionals are ill equipped to deal with the effects trauma has on youth and instead reinforce a system that further traumatizes young offenders while ignoring the needs of victims By taking a trauma informed perspective this text provides a much needed alternative one that allows for interventions based on principles of healing and restorative justice rather than on punishment and risk assessment In addition to providing a comprehensive historical overview of youth justice in Canada Judah Oudshoorn addresses the context of youth offending by examining both individual trauma including its emotional cognitive and behavioural effects and collective trauma The author tackles some of the most difficult problems facing youth justice today especially the ongoing cycles of intergenerational trauma caused by the colonization of Indigenous peoples and patriarchal violence and demonstrates how a trauma informed approach to youth justice can work toward preventing crime and healing offenders victims and communities Featuring a foreword written by Howard Zehr case stories from the author s own work with victims and offenders questions for reflection and annotated lists of recommended readings this engaging text is the perfect resource for college and university students in the field of youth justice The Big Book of Restorative Justice Howard Zehr,Allan MacRae,Kay Pranis,Lorraine Stutzman Amstutz,2022-02-15 The four most popular restorative justice books in the Justice Peacebuilding series The Little Book of Restorative Justice Revised and Updated The Little Book of Victim Offender Conferencing The Little Book of Family Group Conferences and The Little Book of Circle Processes in one affordable volume And now with a new foreword from Howard Zehr one of the founders of restorative justice Restorative justice with its emphasis on identifying the justice needs of everyone involved in a crime is a worldwide movement of growing influence that is helping victims and communities heal while holding criminals accountable for their actions This is not a soft on crime feel good philosophy but rather a concrete effort to bring justice and healing to everyone involved in a crime Circle processes draw from the Native American tradition of gathering in a circle to solve problems as a community Peacemaking circles are used in neighborhoods in schools in the workplace and in social services to support victims of all kinds resolve behavior problems and create positive climates Each book is written by a scholar at the forefront of these movements making this important reading for classrooms community leaders and anyone involved with conflict resolution Teaching Peace Denny J. Weaver,Gerald Biesecker-Mast,2003-09-08 This book opens a new frontier in understanding nonviolence Discussions of peace and nonviolence usually focus on either moral theory or practical dimensions of applying nonviolence in conflict situations Teaching Peace carries the discussion of nonviolence beyond ethics and into the rest of the academic curriculum This book isn t just for religion or philosophy teachers it is for all educators Teaching Peace begins with a discussion rooted in Christian theology where nonviolence is so central and important But it is clear that there are other paths to nonviolence and that one certainly doesn t have to be a Christian to practice nonviolence The pieces that follow therefore show how a nonviolent perspective impacts disciplines across the curriculum from acting to biology to mathematics to psychology In the Shadow of Death Elizabeth Beck,Sarah Britto,Arlene Andrews,2007-02-08 Restorative justice theory which views violent crime as an extreme violation of relationships searches for ways to hold offenders accountable and meets the needs of victims and communities torn apart by the crime organizes these narratives and integrates offenders families into the process of transforming conflict and promoting justice and healing for all What emerges from hundreds of hours worth of in depth interviews with family members of offenders and victims legal teams and leaders in the abolition and restorative justice movements is a vision of justice strongly rooted in the social fabric of communities Showing that forgiveness and recovery are possible in the wake of even the most heinous crimes while holding victims stories sacred this eye opening book bridges the pain of living in the shadow of death with the possibility of a reparative form of justice Anyone working with victims offenders and their familiesfrom lawyers and social workers to mediators and activists will find this riveting work indispensable to their efforts

Restorative Justice in Context Elmar G. M. Weitekamp, Hans-Jürgen Kerner, 2012-12-06 This book brings together a selection of papers originally presented and discussed at the fourth international restorative justice conference held at the University of Tübingen The contributors include many of the leading authorities in the burgeoning field of restorative justice and they provide a comprehensive review of developing international practice and directions and the context in which restorative justice practices are developing Restorative Justice in Context moves beyond a focus on restorative justice for juveniles to a broader concern with the application of restorative justice in such areas as corporate crime family violence and the application of restorative justice in cases of extreme violent crimes The contexts examined are drawn from Europe North America Australasia and Japan leading world authorities analyse international case studies reflecting the growth of restorative justice worldwiderapidly expanding area of interest

Murdering Myths Judith W. Kay, 2005-06-03 In Murdering Myths The Story Behind the Death Penalty Judith Kay goes beyond the hype and statistics to examine Americans deep seated beliefs about crime and punishment She argues that Americans share a counter productive idea of justice that punishment corrects bad behavior suffering pays for wrong deeds and victims desire for revenge is natural and inevitable Drawing on interviews with both victims and inmates Kay shows how this belief harms perpetrators victims and society and calls for a new narrative that recognizes the humanity in all of us

Trauma-Informed Youth Justice Judah Oudshoorn, 2015-12-01 Most youth who come in conflict with the law have experienced some form of trauma yet many justice professionals are ill equipped to deal with the effects trauma has on youth and instead reinforce a system that further traumatizes young offenders while ignoring the needs of victims By taking a trauma informed perspective this text provides a much needed alternative one that allows for interventions based on principles of healing and restorative justice rather than on punishment and risk assessment In addition to providing a comprehensive historical overview of youth justice in Canada Judah Oudshoorn addresses the context of youth offending by examining both individual trauma including its emotional cognitive and behavioural effects and collective trauma The author tackles some of the most difficult problems facing youth justice today especially the ongoing cycles of intergenerational trauma caused by the colonization of Indigenous peoples and patriarchal violence and demonstrates how a trauma informed approach to youth justice can work toward preventing crime and healing offenders victims and communities Featuring a foreword written by Howard Zehr case stories from the author's own work with victims and offenders questions for reflection and annotated lists of recommended readings this engaging text is the perfect resource for college and university students in the field of youth justice

Social Work and Restorative Justice Elizabeth Beck, Nancy P. Kropf, Pamela Blume Leonard, 2010-11-11 Presents an innovative synergistic practice model that will help social workers use restorative justice skills to facilitate healing and recovery in the families and communities that they serve

Representing the Experience of War and Atrocity Ronnie Lippens, Emma Murray, 2019-04-26 This book explores how the experience of war and related atrocities tend to be visually expressed and how such articulations and representations are circulated and consumed Each chapter of this volume examines how an image can contribute to a richer understanding of the experience of war and atrocity and thus they contribute to the burgeoning field of the criminology of war Topics include the destruction of war in oppositional cultural forms comparing the Nazi period with the ISIS destruction of Palmyra and the visual aesthetics of violence deployed by Jihadi terrorism The contributors are a multi disciplinary team drawn mainly from criminology but also sociology international relations gender studies English and the visual arts This book will advance this field in new directions with refreshing original work

Handbook of Restorative Justice Gerry Johnstone, Daniel Van Ness, 2013-01-11 Discusses the key concepts and principles of restorative justice explains how the campaign for restorative justice arose and developed into an influential social movement describes the variety of restorative justice practices and identifies and examines key issues within the restorative justice movement

The Little Book of Restorative Justice Howard Zehr, 2015-01-27 Howard Zehr is the father of Restorative Justice and is known worldwide for his pioneering work in transforming understandings of justice Here he proposes workable principles and practices for making Restorative Justice possible in this revised and updated edition of his bestselling seminal book on the movement The original edition has sold more than 110 000 copies Restorative Justice with its emphasis on identifying the justice needs of everyone involved in a crime is a worldwide movement of growing influence that is helping victims and communities heal while holding criminals accountable for their actions This is not soft on crime feel good philosophy but rather a concrete effort to bring justice and healing to everyone involved in a crime In The Little Book of Restorative Justice Zehr first explores how restorative justice is different from criminal justice Then before letting those appealing observations drift out of reach into theoretical space Zehr presents Restorative Justice practices Zehr undertakes a massive and complex subject and puts it in graspable form without reducing or trivializing it This resource is also suitable for academic classes and workshops for conferences and trainings as well as for the layperson interested in understanding this innovative and influential movement

Restorative Justice: Theoretical foundations Elmar G. M. Weitekamp, Hans-Jürgen Kerner, 2012-12-06 This book brings together a selection of papers originally presented and discussed at the fourth international restorative justice conference held at the University of Tübingen The contributors include many of the leading authorities in the field of restorative justice and they provide a comprehensive review of the theoretical foundations underlying this rapidly expanding movement Restorative Justice Theoretical foundations addresses a wide range of fundamental questions about restorative justice considering amongst other things ways in which conceptual pitfalls can be avoided and how traditional models of peacemaking and healing developed in traditional societies can be integrated into the justice systems of late modern societies Overall it provides an authoritative overview of contemporary thinking about restorative justice and will be essential reading for anybody concerned with the future direction of criminal justice and criminal justice systems leading world authorities address the theoretical foundations of restorative justice a rapidly expanding area within criminal justice includes chapters on restorative justice as applied to corporate crime family violence and cases of extreme violence Redefining Murder, Transforming Emotion Kristen Discola, 2020-11-09 Offering insights based on years of original research Redefining Murder Transforming Emotion An Exploration of Forgiveness after Loss Due to Homicide investigates the ideas and experiences of individuals who have lost loved ones to homicide co victims in order to advance our understanding of the emotional transformation of forgiveness It stands at the crux of two vibrant growing fields criminal victimology and the sociology of emotion Analysis of 36 intensive interviews with co victims and three years of participant observation of self help groups and other victim centered events offers a multidimensional understanding of forgiveness Specifically this book answers the questions of What When How and Why forgiveness occurs by exploring co victims ideas about forgiveness the differential experiences of various groups of people the processes through which forgiveness occurs in a variety of extreme circumstances of homicide and co victims motivations toward forgiveness The book concludes with commentary on overarching conclusions based on this work theoretical and practical implications suggestions for directions for future inquiry and an in depth account of the methodological strategies employed to gather such rich and nuanced data This book will appeal to academics and students alike within relevant fields including sociology criminology restorative justice victim services psychology and social welfare as well as individuals seeking a better understanding of their own experiences including co victims or others whose lives have been altered by extreme forms of violence and upheaval Its detailed postscript will also serve well those interested in qualitative methodology in social science research Legal and Ethical Retributivism Halil Cesur, 2025-07-31 This book explores a foundational philosophical tension in contemporary retributivism revealing ambiguities in its approach to punishment between two conflicting conceptions of restoration legal justice and ethical love Through an analysis of the three parties involved in a crime the victim the offender and the state it argues that neo retributivism has not sufficiently incorporated the ethical face of punishment into its theoretical framework The pull of legal justice is often so strong that the voice of ethical love is silenced neo retributivism is at an impasse To navigate this the book engages with contemporary critical criminal justice scholarship introducing the ideal of loving justice while highlighting an unresolved tension between penal reformism and abolitionism The book will be of interest to academicians and researchers working in the areas of philosophy of punishment criminal law theory criminal justice restorative justice philosophy of law political philosophy and Hegel scholarship Reimagining Restorative Justice David O'Mahony, Jonathan Doak, 2017-09-21 Restorative justice theory has largely failed to keep pace with the rapid expansion of restorative practices worldwide indeed it is remarkable how much support RJ has when so few advocates can even define what it is As such this insightful and comprehensive new contribution from two of the top scholars on the frontlines of restorative justice research is hugely welcome Professor Shadd Maruna Centre for Criminology and Criminal Justice University of Manchester Reimagining Restorative Justice is a reflective and balanced reconsideration of restorative justice It deftly sweeps across the large literature on the subject putting it in perspective seeing anew through its wide angle lens Empowerment and accountability provide a fertile framework for this richly reimagined justice Professor John Braithwaite Australian National University David O Mahony and Jonathan Doak have made a significant contribution to the confusing and over complicated field of restorative justice theory They do so through their use of empowerment theory to bring conceptual and operational clarity to the concepts of agency and accountability in restorative processes and outcomes As a result they develop a convincing argument for face to face dialogue between victim and perpetrator within the core of the criminal justice system Their emphasis upon ethical and skilful practice is a welcome riposte to the rapid spread of restorative justice lite driven by managerialism and the need to cut costs Tim Chapman Lecturer at the University of Ulster O Mahony and Doak convincingly argue that rapid developments in the practice of restorative interventions have outstripped restorative justice theory They provide both an outstandingly helpful review of the literature and a fresh theoretical approach based on empowerment theory Everyone seriously interested in restorative justice will want to reflect carefully on the authors conclusions Anthony Bottoms Emeritus Wolfson Professor of Criminology at the University of Cambridge In recent years restorative based interventions have expanded rapidly and are increasingly viewed as a legitimate and even superior means of delivering justice The result of this swift but piecemeal development has been that restorative justice practice has outpaced the development of restorative justice theory This book takes up this challenge by reimagining a new framework for the operation of restorative justice within criminal justice In essence it is contended that the core empowering values of agency and accountability provide a lens for reimagining how restorative justice works and the normative goals it ought to encompass

Restoring Justice Daniel W. Van Ness, Karen Heetderks Strong, 2014-02-01

Restoring Justice An Introduction to Restorative Justice offers a clear and convincing explanation of restorative justice a movement within criminal justice with growing worldwide influence It explores the broad appeal of this new vision and offers a brief history of its development The book presents a theoretical foundation for the principles and values of restorative justice and develops its four cornerpost ideas of encounter amends inclusion and reintegration After exploring how restorative justice ideas and values may be integrated into policy and practice it presents a series of key issues commonly raised about restorative justice summarizing various perspectives on each

Restorative Justice in a Prison Community Cheryl Swanson, 2009-03-16

Americans are frustrated with prisons They recognize the need for these institutions but at the same time they worry about whether the money used to build and maintain them is well spent Older prisons are dirty disgusting and dangerous but even newer facilities come up lacking in terms of offering inmates opportunities to take responsibility for their crimes support their loved ones further their education learn job skills and develop positive relationships in healthy safe respectful communities This book provides insight into the philosophy of restorative justice which aims to develop ways we can manage our prisons differently to achieve more positive outcomes Using the case study of an honor dorm in a maximum security prison the book posits that most of the inmates never learned the basic tools for living life productively and responsibly They never thought much about their victims or how their actions affected others They never learned how to get along with others pick up after themselves or how to be of service to their fellow man Swanson uses the writings and reflections of inmates participating in a restorative justice program to demonstrate the challenges and transformative possibilities of this alternative approach to rehabilitation
