experience of children and young people It discusses the opportunities and risks presented by this large scale shift in popular engagement with new media and uses illustrative vignettes to document the work of innovative educators who construct new ways of thinking and being around Web 2 0 Digital Media in Education Michelle Cannon,2018-06-19 This book argues for dynamic and relevant school experiences for primary and early secondary learners that embed digital media production It proposes a vision of literacy that combines new technologies with multiple modes of meaning making Drawing on theories related to cultural studies media literacy anthropology and creativity the author explores learning strategies with digital media based on an empowering values driven framework The book advances innovative teaching methods critiquing educational reforms that marginalise media and fail to engage with the complex tensions and textures of modern pedagogy Positioning film and media making as vital practices in schools that nurture the skills dispositions and competencies of modern literacy the model foregrounds connections between human agency cognition and creative practice This innovative book will appeal to students and scholars of creativity digital media production primary education and literacy Media Literacy, Social Networking, and the Web 2.0 Environment for the K-12 Educator Belinha S. De Abreu,2011 This book a resource for educators uses the theme of media literacy as a lens through which to view and discuss social networking and Web 2 0 environments There is ongoing and positive research on the participatory culture created by youth who are heavily involved in the new digital technologies yet schools tend to avoid these mediums for fear of the unknown Can students learn within this context This book posits that indeed they can using media literacy as a way to provide a framework for these mediated environments The book serves as a forum for educators and those interested in the field of media literacy digital and social technologies who seek to bridge curriculum connections as well as understand the online culture of students

New Media and Learning in the 21st Century Tzu-Bin Lin,Victor Chen,Ching Sing Chai,2015-02-25 This volume brings together conceptualizations and empirical studies that explore the socio cultural dimension of new media and its implications on learning in the 21st century classroom The authors articulate their vision of new media enhanced learning at a global level The high level concept is then re examined for different degrees of contextualization and localization for example how a specific form of new media e reader changes specific activities in different cultures In addition studies based in Singapore classrooms provide insights as to how these concepts are being transformed and implemented by a co constructive effort on the part of researchers teachers and students Singapore classrooms offer a unique environment to study the theory practice nexus in that they are high achieving implicitly grounded in the eastern cultural values and well equipped with ICT infrastructure While these studies are arguably the state of the art exemplars that synergize socio cultural and technological affordances of the current learning environments they also serve as improvable ideas for further innovations The interplay between theory and practice lends support to the reciprocal improvements for both This book contributes to the continuing debate in the field and will lead to better learning environments in the 21st century Learning the Virtual Life Peter

Pericles Trifonas,2012-04-23 Learning the Virtual Life offers ways to consider the local and global effects of digital media on educational environments as well as the cultural transformations of how we now define learning and literacy Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace Julie D. Frechette,2002-07-30 By joining bodies of research in media theory cultural studies and critical pedagogy Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace offers a vision of learning that values social empowerment over technical skills An inquiry into the existence and range of models equipped to cultivate critical teaching and learning in the Internet supported classroom this new study argues that media literacy offers the best long term training for today's youth to become experienced practitioners of 21st century technology Author Julie Frechette helps educators develop and provide concrete learning strategies that enable students to judge the validity and worth of what they see on the Internet as they strive to become critically autonomous in a technology laden world Part of this effort lies in developing a keen awareness of the institutional political and economic structure of the Internet as a means of communication that is increasingly marketing products and targeting advertisements toward youth Values on the Internet are discussed constantly both by the major media and by the private sector with little regard for the pervasive interests and authority of profitable industries staking out their territory in this new global village Unlike other studies that provide a broad sociohistorical context for the development of theoretical uses of new technologies in the classroom Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace lays the groundwork for establishing critical thinking skills that will serve students interests as they navigate this vast and complicated cyberterritory Mobile Pedagogy and Perspectives on Teaching and Learning Douglas McConatha,Christian Penny,Jordan Shugar,2014 Mobile devices provide information access all the time and everywhere The manner in which we access data has become a fulcrum of our social vocational and educational ethos The developing mediums by which information is engaged are establishing themselves as a pervasive part of our ecology People expect to be able to perform life tasks work study and play all the time and everywhere This reality is transforming education and a 21st century pedagogy is emerging which necessitates a research informed approach to the integration of theory and praxis As mobility affords new and exciting ways to engender informal learning within the academy we will explore an evidence based pedagogy that augments extends and constructs learning as a result of mobility's affordances The World Is Open Curtis J. Bonk,2009-07-06 Discover the dramatic changes that are affecting all learners Web based technology has opened up education around the world to the point where anyone can learn anything from anyone else at any time To help educators and others understand what's possible Curt Bonk employs his groundbreaking WE ALL LEARN model to outline ten key technology and learning trends demonstrating how technology has transformed educational opportunities for learners of every age in every corner of the globe The book is filled with inspiring stories of ordinary learners as well as interviews with technology and education leaders that reveal the power of this new way of learning Captures the global nature of open education from those who are creating and using new learning technologies Includes a new Preface and Postscript with the latest updates A free companion web site provides additional stories and information Using the dynamic WE ALL LEARN model learners educators executives administrators instructors and parents can discover how to tap into the power of Web technology and unleash a world of information Digital Tools in Urban Schools Jabari Mahiri,2011-07-26 DIVDigital media in the classroom for both teachers and students div Digital Education M. Thomas,2011-03-28 A collection of content based chapters and case studies examining the pedagogical potential and realities of digital literacies in education The book aims to examine a number of foundational aspects of Web 2 0 technologies and social media applications and to understand the implications for teaching learning and professional development Research on Enhancing the Interactivity of Online Learning Vivian H. Wright,Cynthia S. Sunal,Elizabeth K. Wilson,2006 Our goal with this book Research on Enhancing the Interactivity of Online Learning is to present a juried scholarly and accessible review of research theory and or policy on specific issues of interactive online learning for K 16 educators administrators and students of online learning Online learning has become the norm rather than the exception for many of today s students Instructors are more willing to explore online learning options students are enrolling in record numbers and colleges as well as many K 12 institutions are offering more online courses As educators we have more tools than ever to ensure online course success but just as with a traditional class we must continue to place emphasis on good pedagogy To achieve good pedagogy online teaching takes additional time and a restructuring of course content by the instructor Student issues include coping strategies ease of navigation skills required to complete the course availability of online resources feedback from the instructor and collaborative interactive learning opportunities Principles of interactive online learning are new to many and this book provides a forum for interactive online learning research while also including ideas that enhance both the practical and theoretical aspects of interactive online learning The editors have included chapters that can further knowledge and understanding of emerging trends and foster debate regarding issues that surround interactive online learning The underlying theme of each chapter is the importance of pedagogy that is research based and effective It is our hope that the experiences advice and recommendations of the authors featured in this book will further your growth in effective interactive online learning and design as you continue to explore what enhances student learning Confronting the Challenges of Participatory Culture Henry Jenkins,2009-06-05 Many teens today who use the Internet are actively involved in participatory cultures joining online communities Facebook message boards game clans producing creative work in new forms digital sampling modding fan videomaking fan fiction working in teams to complete tasks and develop new knowledge as in Wikipedia and shaping the flow of media as in blogging or podcasting A growing body of scholarship suggests potential benefits of these activities including opportunities for peer to peer learning development of skills useful in the modern workplace and a more empowered conception of citizenship Some argue that young people pick up these key skills and competencies on their own by interacting with popular culture but the problems of unequal access lack of media transparency and the breakdown of traditional forms of socialization and professional training suggest a role for policy and pedagogical intervention This report aims to shift the conversation about the digital divide from questions about access to technology to questions about access to opportunities for involvement in participatory culture and how to provide all young people with the chance to develop the cultural competencies and social skills needed Fostering these skills the authors argue requires a systemic approach to media education schools afterschool programs and parents all have distinctive roles to play The John D and Catherine T MacArthur Foundation Reports on Digital Media and Learning Confronting the Challenges of Participatory Culture H. Jenkins, 2006
