Translating Japanese Texts:

Translating Japanese Texts Kirsten Refsing, Lita Lundquist, 2009 Intended for both students and teachers of translation and professional translators this book offers an introduction to problems of and strategies for translating Japanese texts It focuses on Japanese and English and attempts to highlight differences between these two languages Japanese-English Translation Judy Wakabayashi, 2020-10-06 This volume is a textbook for aspiring translators of Japanese into English as well as a reference work for professional Japanese English translators and for translator educators Underpinned by sound theoretical principles it provides a solid foundation in the practice of Japanese English translation then extends this to more advanced levels Features include 13 thematic chapters with subsections that explore common pitfalls and challenges facing Japanese English translators and the pros and cons of different procedures exercises after many of these subsections abundant examples drawn from a variety of text types and genres and translated by many different translators This is an essential resource for postgraduate students of Japanese English translation and Japanese language professional Japanese English translators and translator educators It will also be of use and interest to advanced undergraduates studying Japanese

Translating Controversial Texts in East Asian Contexts Adam Zulawnik, 2022-06-24 Zulawnik focuses on the broad concept of controversy and issues pertaining to the translation of politically and historically controversial texts in East Asia The research methodology is exemplified through a case study in the form of the author's translation of the best selling Japanese graphic novel manga Manga Kenkanryu Hate Hallyu The Comic by Sharin Yamano 2005 a work that has been problematised as an attack on South Korean culture and the Korean Wave Issues analysed and discussed in the research include translation risk ethics a detailed methodology for the translation of so called controversial texts exemplified through numerous thematically divided examples from the translation of the chosen Japanese text as well as examples from a Korean language equivalent Manhwa Hyeomillyu Hate Japanese Wave and definition and contextualisation of the concept of controversy There has been limited research in the field of translation studies which seeks to exemplify potential pragmatic approaches for the translation of politically charged texts particularly in multi modal texts such as the graphic novel It is hoped that Zulawnik's research will serve both as a valuable source when examining South Korea Japan relations and a theoretical and methodological base for further research and the development of an online augmented translation space with devices specifically suited for the translation of multi modal texts such as but not limited to graphic novels and visual encyclopaedias Translation in Modern Japan Indra Levy, 2017-07-05 The role of translation in the formation of modern Japanese identities has become one of the most exciting new fields of inquiry in Japanese studies This book marks the first attempt to establish the contours of this new field bringing together seminal works of Japanese scholarship and criticism with cutting edge English language scholarship Collectively the contributors to this book address two critical questions 1 how does the conception of modern Japan as a culture of translation affect our understanding of Japanese modernity and its relation to the East West divide and 2 how does the example of a distinctly East Asian tradition of translation affect our understanding of translation itself The chapter engage a wide array of disciplines perspectives and topics from politics to culture the written language to visual culture scientific discourse to children s literature and the Japanese conception of a national literature Translation in Modern Japan will be of huge interest to a diverse readership in both Japanese studies and translation studies as well as students and scholars of the theory and practice of Japanese literary translation traditional and modern Japanese history and culture and Japanese women s studies Translating Popular Fiction Kayoko Nohara,2017-12-31 This book explores the various options and techniques available to and used by translators when translating from English to Japanese The work is rich in both the theory and practice of translation and contains numerous examples from popular texts ranging from classics to detective novels to science fiction Empire of Texts in Motion Karen Laura Thornber,2020-10-26 By the turn of the twentieth century Japan s military and economic successes made it the dominant power in East Asia drawing hundreds of thousands of Chinese Korean and Taiwanese students to the metropole and sending thousands of Japanese to other parts of East Asia The constant movement of peoples ideas and texts in the Japanese empire created numerous literary contact nebulae fluid spaces of diminished hierarchies where writers grapple with and transculture one another s creative output Drawing extensively on vernacular sources in Japanese Chinese and Korean this book analyzes the most active of these contact nebulae semicolonial Chinese occupied Manchurian and colonial Korean and Taiwanese transculturations of Japanese literature It explores how colonial and semicolonial writers discussed adapted translated and recast thousands of Japanese creative works both affirming and challenging Japan s cultural authority Such efforts not only blurred distinctions among resistance acquiescence and collaboration but also shattered cultural and national barriers central to the discourse of empire In this context twentieth century East Asian literatures can no longer be understood in isolation from one another linked only by their encounters with the West but instead must be seen in constant interaction throughout the Japanese empire and beyond Routledge Handbook of East Asian Translation Ruselle Meade,Claire Shih,Kyung Hye Kim,2024-09-05 Routledge Handbook of East Asian Translation showcases new research and developments in translation studies within the East Asian context This handbook draws attention to the diversity of scholarship on translation in East Asia and its relevance to a variety of established and emerging fields It focuses on hitherto less explored interactions such as intra Asian translation encounters translation of minority languages and translation between East Asian and non European languages while also contributing to a thriving body of historical scholarship on East Asian translation traditions Contributions reflect a growing awareness of the cultural and linguistic heterogeneity within nations and the reality of multilingualism and plurilingualism among many communities in East Asia A wide variety of translatorial practices are discussed including the creative use of Chinese in Japanese language novels the use of translation to evade censorship online community theatre translation and translation of picture books The volume also includes contributions by practitioners who reflect on their experiences of translation and of developing training programmes for community interpreters This handbook will appeal to researchers and students of translation and interpreting studies Chapters are likely to be of value to those working not only in East Asian studies but also disciplines such as literary studies global cultural studies and LGBT studies Traduction Harald Kittel, 2004 This international encyclopedia documents and surveys for the first time the entire complex of translation as well as the operations and phenomena associated with it Structured along systematic historical and geographic lines it offers a comprehensive and critical account of the current state of knowledge and of international research The Encyclopedia 1 offers an overview of the different types and branches of translation studies 2 covers translation phenomena including the entire range of interlingual intralingual and intersemiotic transfer and transformation in their social material linguistic intellectual and cultural diversity from diachronic synchronic and systematic perspectives 3 documents and elucidates the most important results of the study of translation to the present day as well as the current debates taking into account theoretical assumptions and methodological implications 4 identifies where possible lacunae in existing research listing priorities and desiderata for further research The languages of publication are German English and French Translating China Xuanmin Luo, Yuanjian He, 2009 The book is a collection of essays on translating various types of text literary religious political etc into and from Chinese The focus is on how such translations have been produced and propagated from ancient to modern times and their sociocultural impact on the evolution of Chinese history and Chinese translatology Languages, scripts, and Chinese texts in East Asia Peter Francis Kornicki, 2018-01-19 Chinese Writing and the Rise of the Vernacular in East Asia is a wide ranging study of vernacularization in East Asia not only China Japan Korea and Vietnam but also societies that no longer exist such as the Tangut and Khitan empires Peter Kornicki takes the reader from the early centuries of the common era when the Chinese script was the only form of writing and Chinese Buddhist Confucian and medical texts spread throughout East Asia through the centuries when vernacular scripts evolved right up to the end of the nineteenth century when nationalism created new roles for vernacular languages and vernacular scripts Through an examination of oral approaches to Chinese texts it shows how highly valued Chinese texts came to be read through the prism of the vernaculars and ultimately to be translated This long process has some parallels with vernacularization in Europe but a crucial difference is that literary Chinese was unlike Latin not a spoken language As a consequence people who spoke different East Asian vernaculars had no means of communicating in speech but they could communicate silently by means of written conversation in literary Chinese a further consequence is that within each society Chinese texts assumed vernacular garb in classes and lectures Chinese texts were read and declaimed in the vernaculars What happened in the nineteenth century and why are there still so many different scripts in East Asia How and why were Chinese texts dethroned and what replaced them These are some of the questions addressed in Chinese Writing and the Rise of the Vernacular in East Asia Asian Translation Traditions Eva Tsoi Hung Hung, Judy

Wakabayashi,2014-07-16 Translation Studies one of the fastest developing fields in the humanities since the early 1980s has so far been Euro centric both in its theoretical explorations and in its historical grounding One of the major reasons for this is the unavailability of reliable data and systematic analysis of translation activities in non European cultures While a number of scholars in the Western tradition of translation studies have become increasingly aware of this bias and its problems practically indicates that the burden of addressing such deficiencies and imbalances should be on the shoulders of scholars who are conversant with the non Western translation traditions and capable of engaging in much needed basic research This book brings together eleven scholars with expertise in different Asian translation traditions who highlight language and cultural environments as well as perceptions and modes of operation often different from those in the Western tradition Their contributions enhance our understanding of the various elements that influence the transfer of knowledge across cultures and provide invaluable data for the study of translation as a force for cultural development and cultural planning

History tells us that translation plays a part in the development of all cultures Historical cases also show us repeatedly that translated works which had real social and cultural impact often bear little resemblance to the idealized concept of a good translation Since the perception and reception of translated works as well as the translation norms which are established through contest and or consensus reflect the concerns preferences and aspirations of their host cultures they are never static or homogenous even within a given culture This book is dedicated to exploring some of the factors in the interplay of culture and translation with an emphasis on translation activities outside the Anglo European tradition particularly in China and Japan Ecologies of Translation in East and South East Asia, 1600-1900 Li Guo,Patricia Sieber,Peter

Kornicki,2025-10-01 This ground breaking volume on early modern inter Asian translation examines how translation from plain Chinese was situated at the nexus between on the one hand the traditional standard of biliteracy characteristic of literary practices in the Sinographic sphere and on the other practices of translational multilingualism competence in multiple spoken languages to produce a fully localized target text Translations from plain Chinese are shown to carve out new ecologies of translations that not only enrich our understanding of early modern translation practices across the Sinographic sphere but also demonstrate that the transregional uses of a non alphabetic graphic technology call for different models of translation theory Translating Others (Volume 2) Theo Hermans,2014-07-16

Both in the sheer breadth and in the detail of their coverage the essays in these two volumes challenge hegemonic thinking on the subject of translation Engaging throughout with issues of representation in a postmodern and postcolonial world Translating Others investigates the complex processes of projection recognition displacement and othering effected not only by translation practices but also by translation studies as developed in the West At the same time the volumes document the increasing awareness the the world is peopled by others who also translate often in ways radically different from and hitherto largely ignored by the modes of translating conceptualized in Western discourses The languages covered in individual contributions include Arabic Bengali Chinese Hindi Irish Italian Japanese Latin Rajasthani Somali Swahili Tamil Tibetan and Turkish as well as the Europhone literatures of Africa the tongues of medieval Europe and some major languages of Egypt's five thousand year history Neighbouring disciplines invoked include anthropology semiotics museum and folklore studies librarianship and the history of writing systems Contributors to Volume 2 Paul Bandia Red Chan Sukanta Chaudhuri Annmarie Drury Ruth Evans Fabrizio Ferrari Daniel Gallimore Hephzibah Israel John Tszpang Lai Kenneth Liu Szu han Ibrahim Muhawi Martin Orwin Carol O Sullivan Saliha Parker Stephen Quirke and Kate Sturge
