Justice Moira Inghilleri, 2013-03-01 In this timely study Inghilleri examines the interface between ethics language and politics during acts of interpreting with reference to two particular sites of transnational conflict the political and judicial context of asylum adjudication and the geo political context of war The book characterizes the social and moral spaces in which the translation of the spoken word occurs in ways that reflect the realities of the trans nationally constituted locally and globally informed environments in which interpreters work alongside others One of the core arguments is that the rather restricted notion of neutrality that remains central to translator and interpreter practices does not adequately reflect the complex and paradoxical nature of these socially and politically inscribed encounters and others like them This study offers an alternative theoretical perspective on language and ethics to those which have shaped and informed translation and interpreting theory and practice in recent years Interpreter Training in Conflict and Post-Conflict Scenarios Lucía Ruiz

Rosendo, Marija Todorova, 2022-11-29 The role of interpreters in conflict situations is of increasing real world importance There are ethical cultural and professional issues that have yet to be explored and there is a need for specialised training that addresses the specific contexts in which interpreters perform their duties considering the situated nature of interpreting in these contexts This volume is structured around interpreter training in different contexts of conflict and post conflict from military operations and international tribunals to asylum seeking and refugee humanitarian and human rights missions Themes covered include risk management and communication ethics and professional demeanour language technology and its use intercultural mediation training in specific contexts such as conflict resolution and negotiation and working with trauma Chapters are authored by experts from around the world with a range of different profiles military personnel scholars the staff of international organisations and representatives from refugee and asylum seeker assisting institutions Interpreter Training in Conflict and Post Conflict Scenarios is key reading both for students and scholars researching interpreting in conflict zones and conflict related scenarios and for practising and trainee interpreters and mediators working for international organisations and the military Remapping Habitus in Translation Studies Gisella M.

Vorderobermeier, 2014-05-20 The publication deliberately concentrates on the reception and application of one concept highly influential in the sociology of translation and interpreting namely habitus By critically engaging with this Bourdieusian concept it aspires to re estimate not only interdisciplinary interfaces but also those with different approaches in the discipline itself The authors of the contributions collected in this volume by engaging with the habitus concept lend expression to the conviction that it is indeed a concept which upsets i e one with the potential to make a difference to research agendas They are cutting across diverse traditions of Bourdieu reception within and beyond the discipline each paper being based on unique research experiences We do hope that this volume can help to find and maintain the delicate balance between consolidating an area of research by insisting on methodological rigour as well as on the sine qua non of a given body of thought on the one hand and being critically inventive on the other
