all those engaged in the study and research of Language and Superdiversity within Applied Linguistics Linguistic Anthropology and related areas Indigenization Discourse in Social Work Koustab Majumdar,Rajendra Baikady,Ashok Antony D'Souza,2023-11-09 This contributed volume provides an in depth understanding of contemporary debates discussions and insights on Indigenous social work theory education and practice across the globe Based on theoretical and empirical perspectives authors collectively contribute to a comprehensive critical and up to date discussion about Indigenous social work theories decolonization of social work education Indigenous social work curriculum Indigenous social work practice and cultural perspectives towards enhancing Indigenous social work education and practice The key features of this book are Critical insights into the historical evolution of Indigenous social work Global debates on the westernization and indigenization of social work education An overview of Indigenous social work and its practice in diverse cultural contexts Critical perspective of Indigenous social work education and Coverage of a diverse range of geographical areas Indigenization Discourse in Social Work International Perspectives is an indispensable resource for students scholars independent researchers academicians policymakers and practitioners who are working in the field of social work especially those who are interested in Indigenous social work issues Moreover it is an invaluable text for students scholars and academicians who are interested in international social work with a special focus on Indigenous social work In addition students and scholars in sociology development studies public policy and economics working with Indigenous people and who are interested in Indigenous studies will find this book useful as an interdisciplinary reference In Sickness and in Wealth Carol Chan,2018-08-10 An expert in migration studies examines the cultural context of villages in Central Java and their influence on those who pursue migrant labor Villagers in Indonesia hear a steady stream of stories about the injuries abuses and even deaths suffered by those who migrate in search of work So why do hundreds of thousands of Indonesian workers continue to migrate every year Carol Chan explores this question from the perspective of the origin community and provides a fascinating look at how gender faith and shame shape these decisions to migrate Chan reveals how villagers evaluate men s and women s migrations differently This disparity leads to different ideas about which kinds of human or financial flows should be encouraged and which should be discouraged or even criminalized Despite routine and well documented instances of exploitation of Indonesian migrant workers some villagers still emphasize that a migrant s success or failure ultimately depends on that individual s morality fate and destiny Indonesian villagers construct strategies for avoiding migration related risks that are closely linked to faith and belief in supernatural agency These strategies shape the flow of migration from the country and help to ensure the continued confidence Indonesian people have in migration as an act of promise and hope Decolonizing "Multicultural" Counseling through Social Justice Rachael D. Goodman,Paul C. Gorski,2014-11-03 Multicultural counseling and psychology evolved as a response to the Eurocentrism prevalent in the Western healing professions and has been used to challenge the Eurocentric patriarchal and heteronormative constructs commonly embedded in counseling and psychology Ironically some of the practices and paradigms commonly associated with multiculturalism reinforce the very hegemonic practices and paradigms that multicultural counseling and psychology approaches were created to correct In Decolonizing Multicultural Counseling through Social Justice counseling and psychology scholars and practitioners examine this paradox through a social justice lens by questioning and challenging the infrastructure of dominance in society as well as by challenging ourselves as practitioners scholars and activists to rethink our commitments The authors analyze the ways well meaning clinicians might marginalize clients and contribute to structural inequities despite multicultural or cross cultural training and offer new frameworks and skills to replace the essentializing and stereotyping practices that are widespread in the field By addressing the power imbalances embedded in key areas of multicultural theory and practice contributors present innovative methods for revising research paradigms professional education and hands on practice to reflect a commitment to equity and social justice Together the chapters in this book model transformative practice in the clinic the schools the community and the discipline Among the topics covered Rethinking racial identity development models Queering multicultural competence in counseling Developing a liberatory approach to trauma counseling Decolonizing psychological practice in the context of poverty Utilizing indigenous paradigms in counseling research Addressing racism through intersectionality A mind opening text for multicultural counseling and psychology courses as well as other foundational courses in counseling and psychology education Decolonizing Multicultural Counseling through Social Justice challenges us to let go of simplistic approaches however well intended and to embrace a more transformative approach to counseling and psychology practice and scholarship

Social Work Practice with Men at Risk Rich Furman, 2010-04-22 Treating men as a culturally distinct group Rich Furman integrates key conceptions of masculinity into culturally sensitive social work practice with men Focusing on veterans displaced workers substance abusers mental health consumers and other groups that might be unlikely to seek help Furman deftly explores the psychosocial development of men along with the globalization of men s lives alternative conceptions of masculinity and special dynamics within male relationships Furman bolsters his conclusions with case studies and evidence based interventions His cutting edge research merges four key social work theories and explores how they inform practice with mental health issues compulsive disorders addiction and violence By promoting gender equity and culturally competent practice with men Furman bridges the gap between clinical and macro practice Social Work Practice with Men at Risk is a crucial text for educators and practitioners hoping to pursue effective far reaching interventions

Time and Migration Ken Chih-Yan Sun, 2021-05-15 Winner of the Richard Kalish Innovative Publication Book Award from the Gerontological Society of America and Winner of the Outstanding Publication Book Award of the American Sociological Association s Aging and Life Course Section Based on longitudinal ethnographic work on migration between the United States and Taiwan Time and Migration interrogates how long term immigrants negotiate their needs as they grow older and how transnational migration shapes later life transitions

Ken Chih Yan Sun develops the concept of a temporalities of migration to examine the interaction between space place and time He demonstrates how long term settlement in the United States coupled with changing homeland contexts has inspired aging immigrants and returnees to rethink their sense of social belonging remake intimate relations and negotiate opportunities and constraints across borders The interplay between migration and time shapes the ways aging migrant populations reassess and reconstruct relationships with their children spouses grandchildren community members and home as well as host societies Aging Sun argues is a global issue and must be reconsidered in a cross border environment

Migrant Citizenship from Below K. Shinozaki, 2015-05-06 Migrant Citizenship from Below explores the dynamic local and transnational lives of Filipina and Filipino migrant domestic workers living in Sch nberg Germany Shinozaki examines their irregular migrant citizenship status from above which is produced by complex interactions between Germany s welfare care and migration regimes and the Philippines gendered politics of overseas employment Despite the predominant representation of these workers as invisible these spatially immobile migrants maintain sustained transnational engagements through parenting and religious practices Shinozaki studies the reverse gendered process of international reproductive labor migration in which women traveled first and were later joined by men Despite their structural vulnerability participant observations and biographical interviews with the migrants demonstrate that they enact and negotiate migrant citizenship in the workplace transnational households religious practices and through accessing health provisions
