Transport, the Environment and Sustainable Development D. Banister, K. Button, 2015-12-22 This book presents the current thinking from leading authorities worldwide on transport and the environment and focuses on the link between transport supply and use and environmental degradation Transportation, Land Use and Integration I.M. Schoeman, 2017-05-30 For many years the integration of the location of land use and activities in spatial systems as well as the provision of transport in movement of goods services and people has been recognized as a challenge amongst various specialists including engineers transportation planners economists environmentalists urban and regional planners and developers The purpose of this book is to address transportation modelling in terms of technology techniques and methodology application in context to the interface between transportation systems land use planning and environmental challenges and application The methodology of transportation modelling is applied to international practices and application based on specific case studies inclusive of public transportation projects transportation modelling techniques in practice international research agenda network design and channel strategies strategic planning application of technology in traffic surveys and interpretation emissions from transportation systems application of mathematical models and the interface between environment land use and development in terms of location in space and the resulting activities Of value to both theorists and practitioners this book references the integration of transportation modelling techniques within an interdisciplinary environment inside all spatial systems Transport Planning David Banister, 2003-12-16 An invaluable source book Transport Planning describes the evolution of transport planning and provides a clear account of its strengths and weaknesses how it relates to actual policy decisions and where it is likely to go in the future Urban Transport XIX

C. A. Brebbia, 2013-05-01 This book contains the papers presented at the nineteenth annual International Conference on Urban Transport and the Environment. The papers cover research on how to minimise ecological and environmental impacts from urban transportation systems, make them sustainable and use them to improve the socio-economic fabric of the city. Papers also address the concerns about the safety, security and efficiency of the systems. Topics covered include Urban transport planning and Management, Transportation demand analysis, Traffic integration and control, Intelligent transport systems, Transport modelling and simulation, Land use and transport integration, Public transport systems, Environmental and ecological aspects, Air and noise pollution, Safety and security, Energy and transport fuels, Economic and social impact and Advanced transport systems. Transportation Engineering and Planning - Volume II Tschangho John Kim, 2009-04-15

Transportation Engineering and Planning is a component of Encyclopedia of Physical Sciences, Engineering and Technology Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems (EOLSS), which is an integrated compendium of twenty-one Encyclopedias. The Theme on Transportation Engineering and Planning presents the readers with diverse sources of information and knowledge about transportation engineering and planning to help ensure that informed actions are compatible with sustainable world development. It begins with a historical analysis of transportation development since an understanding of how transportation technologies developed is a prerequisite for understanding issues involved in transportation systems and for developing sound policy analysis. Next, the various chapters analyze transportation problems, discuss the state of public policy addressing those problems, consider the causes and effects of changes in demand for mobility as the socio-economic environment changes and then deal with the fundamental questions related to transportation. These two volumes are aimed at the following wide spectrum of audiences: from the merely curious to those seeking in-depth knowledge: University and College students, Educators, Professional practitioners, Research personnel and Policy analysts, managers and decision makers and NGOs.

Sustainable Urban Transport in an Asian Context Hitoshi Ieda, 2010-02-18 Systems of transportation long ago developed out of the profound human need to connect and communicate. Transport today is still the only means for the physical movement of goods and people. Alongside the evolution of transportation and communication technologies, the astounding phenomenon of urbanization has taken place. Cities have grown faster and larger, absorbing vast influxes of dwellers who seek convenient and comfortable lifestyles with the required fast, cheap and safe systems of transport. Of the world's megacities with populations of more than ten million, over half are in Asia. While enjoying large-scale economic power, Asian megacities also face serious challenges. They suffer from too rapid urbanization with the resulting congestion, pollution and destruction of traditional local cultures and industries. Written by experts from Asian academic institutes, this book addresses the urgent question of how to achieve sustainability in the still-growing cities of Asia. The chapters comprise the latest research and the application of promising measures, some already realized in Asia, that include urban transport system design and management, land use control, city planning and sustainability.

Of vast import this volume was written for students and researchers planners and engineers and all who are interested in sustainable urban environments Following is the structure and rough sketch of the contents of this book Part I The First Step An Overview deals with Asian characteristics from natural cultural and economic viewpoints and then describes how we should grasp the concept of urban sustainability in urban transport in Asia Readers will understand various aspects of Asia as introductory and preparatory knowledge Part II Best Practices from Asia with Wisdom Keys to Success and Facing Limitations will introduce actual comparatively successful and promising measures tried and realized in Asia This part covers various cases from passenger transport to freight transport from transport system design to system management from engineering measures to people s participation from traffic control to land use control and site development Readers will find an abundance of information and examples in this main part of the book Part III Future of Urban Transport in Asia Rising Asia Proposes to the World discusses key issues and hot topics of study on sustainable city and transport for the future development and management travel demand management growth management site development strategies and financial and institutional measures

Non-Motorized Transport Integration into Urban Transport Planning in Africa Winnie V. Mitullah, Marianne Vanderschuren, Melekidzedek Khayesi, 2017-07-14 What challenges do pedestrians and cyclists face in cities of the developing world What opportunities do these cities have to provide for walking and cycling Based on in depth research conducted in Cape Town South Africa Dar es Salaam Tanzania and Nairobi Kenya this book explores these questions by presenting work on walking and cycling travel behaviour the status of road safety in these cities as well as an analysis of the infrastructure for walking and cycling and the workings of the institutions responsible for planning for these modes The book also presents case studies relating to particular opportunities and challenges such as the development and evaluation of walking bus interventions and the opportunities micro simulation of pedestrian interventions offers within a data scarce environment Non motorized Transport Integration into Urban Transport Planning in Africa demonstrates that transport and urban planning remains situated in a logic of automobile dependent transport planning and global city development This logic of practice does not pay adequate attention to walking and cycling It argues that a significant shift in both policy as well as political commitment is needed so as to prioritize walking and cycling as strategies for sustainable transport policy in urban Africa This book will be a key text for practitioners and policy makers working in planning transport policy and urban development in Africa as well as students and scholars of African studies development studies urban geography transport studies and sustainable development

Urban and Transit Planning Paola Gallo, Simon Elias Bibri, Francesco Alberti, Abraham R. Matamanda, Cristina Piselli, Hamid Rabiei, Rosa Romano, Ayse Ozcan- Buckley, 2025-05-01 This book covers a critical topic including green building design sustainable urban mobility renewable energy integration and the use of advanced technologies to minimize environmental impact Through comprehensive analysis and practical case studies it highlights how thoughtful design and planning can transform urban areas into resilient eco friendly spaces Also it explores the challenges and opportunities associated with implementing sustainable practices in urban planning and architectural design It highlights successful projects from around the world demonstrating innovative solutions that address issues Aimed at professionals researchers and students this book provides valuable insights and actionable strategies for fostering sustainable growth It serves as an essential guide for anyone committed to creating cities and buildings that not only meet the needs of the present but also safeguard the well being of future generations Through its comprehensive coverage and forward thinking approach it inspires a new era of urban transformation focused on sustainability and resilience

Urban Transport XX C. A. Brebbia, 2014 Urban Transport XX contains the proceedings of the 20th International Conference on Urban Transport and the Environment Topics covered include Environmental impact Transport strategies Public transport systems Urban transport simulation Transport safety and security Experiences from emerging countries Intelligent transport systems Integrating Human Health into Urban and Transport Planning Mark Nieuwenhuijsen, Haneen Khreis, 2018-07-13 This volume brings together the world's leading experts on urban and transport planning environmental exposures physical activity health and health impact assessment to discuss challenges and solutions in cities The book provides a conceptual framework and work program for actions and outlines future research needs It presents the current evidence base the benefits of and numerous case studies on integrating health and the environment into urban development and transport planning Within cities there is a considerable variation in the levels of environmental exposures such as ambient air pollution noise and temperature green space availability and physical activity Many of these exposures and their adverse health impacts are related to and are being exacerbated by urban and transport planning and policy Emerging research suggests that urban and transport planning indicators such as road network distance to major roads traffic density household density industry and natural and green space can explain a large proportion of the variability in environmental exposures and therefore represent important and highly modifiable factors The urban environment is a complex interlinked system Decision makers need not only better data on the complexity of factors in environmental and developmental processes affecting human health but also an enhanced understanding of the linkages between these factors and health effects to determine at which level to target their actions most effectively In recent years there also has been a shift from trying to change at the national level to more comprehensive and ambitious actions being developed and implemented at the regional and local levels Cities have come to the forefront of providing solutions for environmental issues such as climate change which has co benefits for health but yet need better knowledge for wider health centric action This book provides the latest and most up to date information and studies for academics and practitioners alike A

Engineering Tools and Solutions for Sustainable Transportation Planning Knoflach, Hermann, Ocalir-Akunal, Ebru V., 2017-02-14 While modern cities continue to grow and become more efficient in many sectors as their population increases public transportation has not yet caught up As a significant industry in contemporary society further progress in transportation systems is more vital than ever Engineering Tools and Solutions for Sustainable Transportation Planning is an informative reference source that outlines why current transportation systems have become inefficient in modern societies and offers solutions for the improvement of transportation infrastructures Highlighting key topics such as parking organization car ownership energy consumption and highway performance this is a detailed resource for all practitioners academics graduate students and researchers that are interested in studying the latest trends and developments in the transportation sector

Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility Un-Habitat, 2013-10-30 Urban transport systems worldwide are faced by a multitude of challenges Among the most visible of these are the traffic gridlocks experienced on city roads and highways all over the world The prescribed solution to transport problems in most cities has thus been to build more infrastructures for cars with a limited number of cities improving public transport systems in a sustainable manner However a number of challenges faced by urban transport systems such as greenhouse gas emissions noise and air pollution and road traffic accidents do not necessarily get solved by the construction of new infrastructure Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility argues that the development of sustainable urban transport systems requires a conceptual leap The purpose of transportation and mobility is to gain access to destinations activities services and goods Thus access is the ultimate objective of transportation As a result urban planning and design should focus on how to bring people and places together by creating cities that focus on accessibility rather than simply increasing the length of urban transport infrastructure or increasing the movement of people or goods Urban form and the functionality of the city are therefore a major focus of this report which highlights the importance of integrated land use and transport planning This new report of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme UN Habitat the world s leading authority on urban issues provides some thought provoking insights and policy recommendations on how to plan and design sustainable urban mobility systems The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World The Challenge of Slums Financing Urban Shelter Enhancing Urban Safety and Security Planning Sustainable Cities and Cities and Climate Change Barriers to Sustainable Transport Piet Rietveld, Roger R. Stough, 2005-02-25 The complexity of transportation systems and their negative social and environmental effects are today at the centre of attention This book focuses on the impact of institutions and regulatory systems on transport systems and travel behaviour While institutions appear to play an important role in the economic success of many countries this book considers the extent to which they also support sustainable development
