Art and Cultural Heritage Barbara T. Hoffman,2006 Art and Cultural Heritage is appropriately but not solely about national and international law respecting cultural heritage It is a bubbling cauldron of law mixed with ethics philosophy politics and working principles looking at how cultural heritage law policy and practice should be sculpted from the past as the present becomes the future Art and cultural heritage are two pillars on which a society builds its identity its values its sense of community and the individual The authors explore these demanding concerns untangle basic values and look critically at the conflicts and contradictions in existing art and cultural heritage law and policy in its diverse sectors The rich and provocative contributions collectively provide a reasoned discussion of the issues from a multiplicity of views to permit the reader to understand the theoretical and philosophical underpinnings of the cultural heritage debate The Subjugation of Canadian Wildlife Max Foran,2018-04-10 Hardly a day goes by without news of the extinction or endangerment of yet another animal species followed by urgent but largely unheeded calls for action An eloquent denunciation of the failures of Canada's government and society to protect wildlife from human exploitation Max Foran's The Subjugation of Canadian Wildlife argues that a root cause of wildlife depletions and habitat loss is the culturally ingrained beliefs that underpin management practices and policies Tracing the evolution of the highly contestable assumptions that define the human wildlife relationship Foran stresses the price wild animals pay for human self interest Using several examples of government oversight at the federal provincial and territorial levels from the Species at Risk Act to the Biodiversity Strategy Protected Areas Network and provincial management plans this volume shows that wildlife policies are as much or more about human needs priorities and profit as they are about preservation Challenging established concepts including ecological integrity adaptive management sport hunting as conservation and the flawed belief that wildlife is a renewable resource the author compels us to recognize animals as sentient individuals and as integral components of complex ecological systems A passionate critique of contemporary wildlife policy The Subjugation of Canadian Wildlife calls for belief change as the best hope for an ecologically healthy wildlife rich Canada

The Oxford Handbook of Hoarding and Acquiring Randy O. Frost, Gail Steketee, 2014 Hoarding involves the acquisition of and inability to discard large numbers of possessions that clutter the living area of the person collecting them It becomes a disorder when the behavior causes significant distress or interferes with functioning Hoarding can interfere with activities of daily living such as being able to sit in chairs or sleep in a bed work efficiency family relationships as well as health and safety Hoarding behavior can range from mild to life threatening Epidemiological findings suggest that hoarding occurs in 2.6% of the adult population making it two to three times more common than obsessive compulsive disorder The fifth edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders DSM 5 now includes Hoarding Disorder as a distinct disorder within the OCD and Related Anxiety Disorders section creating a demand for information about it The Oxford Handbook of Hoarding and Acquiring is the first volume to detail the empirical research on hoarding Including contributions from all of the leading researchers in the field this comprehensive volume is divided into four sections in addition to introductory and concluding chapters by the editors Phenomenology Epidemiology and Diagnosis Etiology Assessment and Intervention and Hoarding in Special Populations The summaries of research and clinical interventions contained here clarify the emotional and behavioral features diagnostic challenges and nature of the treatment interventions for this new disorder This handbook will be a critical resource for both practitioners and researchers including psychiatrists psychologists neurologists epidemiologists social workers occupational therapists and other health and mental health professionals who encounter clients with hoarding problems in their practice and research

Developing a Therapeutic Treatment Programme for Traumatized Children and Young People Christine Bradley, Francia Kinchington, 2024-11-26 This manual sets out an accessible model for assessing the emotional needs of traumatized children and young adults and using the outcomes of the assessment to develop individualized therapeutic programmes to support their needs and emotional development Evolved from Christine Bradley's over 40 years of working with children and young people with complex histories the model and the case studies presented are firmly rooted in a psychotherapeutic approach and her early training of working with pioneers in the field It presents a needs led assessment and treatment tool that offers insight and an understanding of the complex histories and behaviours of individual children and young people based on the impact that trauma has on the inner world of the child The treatment programme is presented in a clearly written and highly accessible step by step approach that is supplemented by exemplar case studies and moving anecdotes This manual will be of use to any professional working with traumatized children and young people including therapists social workers foster carers and teachers It will allow individuals who otherwise would not feel they possess the confidence knowledge training or experience to conduct a high quality effective individualized needs led assessment and subsequent treatment programme
