Time Honored A Global View Of Architectural Conservation:

Time Honored John H. Stubbs, 2009-01-14 The absence heretofore of a comparably thoroughgoing but accessible resource on a topic of such urgent public concern was a glaring lapse that makes this deeply researched lucidly written and helpfully annotated book an invaluable addition to the literature New York Review of Books Time Honored is a comprehensive survey of the practice theory and structure of architectural heritage conservation throughout the world Offering an argument for why architectural conservation is indispensable to modern life Time Honored describes its parameters and evolution in an historical context and then methodically presents approaches used in various countries showing how historic preservation in the West differs from conservation in the rest of the world Illustrated throughout with over 300 photographs drawings maps and charts No other book navigates the global conservation programs policies and project types so completely

Architectural Conservation in Europe and the Americas John H. Stubbs, Emily G. Makaš, 2011-05-04 From such well known and long vexed sites as the Athenian Acropolis to more contemporary locales like the Space Age Modernist capital city of Brasilia the conflicting and not always neatly resolvable forces that bear upon preservation are addressed as clearly and thoughtfully as the general reader could hope for New York Review of Books an astonishing feat of research compilation and synthesis Context The book delivers the first major survey concerning the conservation of cultural heritage in both Europe and the Americas Architectural Conservation in Europe and the Americas serves as a convenient resource for professionals students and anyone interested in the field Following the acclaimed Time Honored this book presents contemporary practice on a country by country and region by region basis facilitating comparative analysis of similarities and differences The book stresses solutions in architectural heritage protection and the contexts in which they were developed

Architectural Conservation in Asia John H. Stubbs, Robert G. Thomson, 2016-11-10 The first comprehensive overview of architectural conservation in Asia Internationally renowned author John Stubbs follows up on the success of his previous volumes Time Honored A Global View of Architectural Conservation and Architectural Conservation in Europe and the Americas Architectural conservation is a rapidly expanding and under researched field in Asia and is international experts are often brought in making the subject of considerable interest to international academics Boxes and case studies by local experts add depth and interest to the authors meticulous research A website with extra information and resources accompanies the series <http://conservebuiltworld.com>

Architectural Conservation in Australia, New Zealand and the Pacific Islands John Stubbs, William Chapman, Julia Gatley, Ross King, 2023-12-22 The fourth in a series that documents architectural conservation in different parts of the world Architectural Conservation in Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands National Experiences and Practice addresses cultural heritage protection in a region which comprises one third of the Earth's surface In response to local needs Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Islands have developed some of the most important and influential techniques legislation doctrine and theories in cultural heritage management in the world The evolution of the heritage protection ethos and contemporary architectural conservation practices in Australia and Oceania are discussed on a national and regional basis using ample illustrations and examples Accomplishments in architectural conservation are discussed in their national and international contexts with an emphasis on original developments solutions and contributions made to the overall field Enriched with essays contributed from fifty nine specialists and thought leaders in the field this book contains an extraordinary breadth and depth of research and synthesis on the why s and how s of cultural heritage conservation Its holistic approach provides an essential resource and reference for students academics researchers policy makers practitioners and all who are interested in conserving the built environment

Architecture and Fire Stamatis Zografos, 2019-06-12 Architecture and Fire develops a conceptual reassessment of architectural conservation through the study of the intimate relationship between architecture and fire Stamatis Zografos expands on the general agreement among many theorists that the primitive hut was erected around fire locating fire as the first memory of architecture at the very beginning of architectural evolution Following the introduction Zografos analyses the archive and the renewed interest in the study of archives through the psychoanalysis of Jacques Derrida He moves on to explore the ambivalent nature of fire employing the conflicting philosophies of Gaston Bachelard and Henri Bergson to do so before discussing architectural conservation and the relationship between listed buildings the function of archives and the preservation of memories from the past The following chapter investigates how architecture evolves by absorbing and accommodating fire while the penultimate chapter examines the critical moment of architectural evolution the destruction of buildings by fire with a focus on the tragic disaster at London's Grenfell Tower in 2017 Zografos concludes with thoughts on Freud's drive theory He argues the practice of architectural conservation is an expression of the life drive and a simultaneous repression of the death drive which suggests controlled destruction should be an integral part of the conservation agenda Architecture and Fire is founded in new interdisciplinary research navigating across the boundaries of architecture conservation archival theory classical mythology evolutionary theory thermodynamics philosophy and psychoanalysis It will be of interest to readers working in and around these disciplines

Essential Economics for Heritage Peter G. Gould, 2025-10-16 Essential Economics for Heritage introduces tools from economics to help students and heritage professionals who face economic issues and choices in their day to day work in archaeology museum and site management and heritage research presentation and conservation The book begins with an easy to follow primer linking heritage and economic theory Case studies and non technical explanations of theoretical issues follow along with useful analytical approaches and practical insights that will support readers as they make decisions on allocating scarce financial physical and human resources Peter G Gould critically evaluates the role of heritage in the world economy and the tools economists have created to value heritage resources He applies economic concepts and methods to real world challenges including heritage tourism the role of heritage in economic development heritage sustainability investment decision making and financing for heritage organizations He explores emerging directions in the often contentious relationships among international agencies national governments the private sector and communities in the management of heritage The book's scope is global It draws on examples from wealthy countries in the Global North and from low to middle income countries that often depend on heritage resources to fuel tourist economies Essential Economics for Heritage is an invaluable resource for heritage practitioners and can serve as a textbook or auxiliary text for courses in archaeology heritage site or museum management conservation and other heritage fields

The Conservation Movement: A History of Architectural Preservation Miles Glendinning, 2013-01-17 Winner of the 2016 Antoinette Forrester Downing Award presented by the Society of Architectural Historians In many cities across the world particularly in Europe old buildings form a prominent part of the built environment and we often take it for granted that their contribution is intrinsically positive How has that widely shared belief come about and is its continued general acceptance inevitable Certainly ancient structures have long been treated with care and reverence in many societies including classical Rome and Greece But only in modern Europe and America in the last two centuries has this care been elaborated and energised into a forceful dynamic ideology a Conservation Movement infused with a sense of historical destiny and loss that paradoxically shared many of the characteristics of Enlightenment modernity The close inter relationship between conservation and modern civilisation was most dramatically heightened in periods of war or social upheaval beginning with the French Revolution and rising to a tragic climax in the 20th century age of totalitarian extremism more recently the troubled relationship of heritage and global commercialism has become dominant Miles Glendinning's new book authoritatively presents for the first time the entire history of this architectural Conservation Movement and traces its dramatic fluctuations in ideas and popularity ending by questioning whether its recent international ascendancy can last indefinitely

The Imperial Politics of Architectural Conservation Reyhan Sabri, 2019-07-15 This book documents the changing role of the Islamic Waqf institution in Cyprus and the conservation of Waqf heritage buildings of Ottoman and Western origins Previously ignored archives of documents detailing the conservation of Waqf buildings during Ottoman and British rule allow a fine grained analysis of the colonial introduction of Western approaches to heritage conservation Colonial rule saw major legislative and administrative changes to the originally autonomous Ottoman Waqf institution which had already been subject to reforms under the Ottoman regime Under British rule Western heritage concepts and modern architectural conservation discourses became the core conservation principles in Cyprus Earlier centralisation attempts during the Ottoman Tanzimat 1831 1876 and the procedural technical and political reconfigurations during the British colonial era in Cyprus 1878 1960 were key factors of the transformation of the Waqf's traditional building upkeep system. These imperial interventions, their orientalist mindset and the rise of nationalism finally led to the erosion of Waqf in Cyprus as a non-Western and sustainable form of building conservation. This study reveals how the Western approach, the forms of expertise it privileges and pragmatic diversions from this practice for political purposes were useful in neutralizing the legitimacy of local practices except in cases where opportunistic recognition of their utility played a role in inter-communal, colonial, nationalist and inter-imperial politics.

Values in Cities James Lesh, 2022-09-23. Examining urban heritage in twentieth-century Australia, James Lesh reveals how evolving ideas of value and significance shaped cities and places. Over decades, a growing number of sites and areas were found to be valuable by communities and professionals. Places perceived to have value were often conserved. Places perceived to lack value became subject to modernisation, redevelopment and renewal. From the 1970s, alongside strengthened activism and legislation with the innovative Burra Charter 1979, the values-based model emerged for managing the aesthetic, historic, scientific and social significance of historic environments. Values thus transitioned from an implicit to an overt component of urban architectural and planning conservation. The field of conservation became a noted profession and discipline. Conservation also had a broader role in celebrating the Australian nation and in reconciling settler colonialism for the twentieth century. Integrating urban history and heritage studies, this book provides the first longitudinal study of the twentieth-century Australian heritage movement. It advocates for innovative and reflexive modes of heritage practice responsive to urban social and environmental imperatives. As the values-based model continues to shape conservation worldwide, this book is an essential reference for researchers, students and practitioners concerned with the past and future of cities and heritage.
