Trans Lated Translation And Cultural Manipulation:

Trans-lated Said Faiq, 2007 Translation is intercultural communication par excellence It has the power to form and or deform cultures through sustained manipulation of the translation process and all that goes into it from texts chosen for translation to the words used But nowhere has manipulation through translation been more damaging than in the cultural exchange of goods between the Arab Islamic worlds and the West Drawing on this complex cultural relationship the chapters in this volume address issues such as the rise of a master discourse of translation pseudo translation self translation and the historiography of translation Book jacket

PROCEEDINGS OF THE THIRD INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON GLOBALIZATION: CHALLENGES FOR TRANSLATORS AND INTERPRETERS Zhiqing Zhang, Youbin Zhao, Xinjie Wang, 2020-05-26 With the implementation of the Belt and Road Initiative and the development of Guangdong Hong Kong Macau Greater Bay Area the demand for translators and interpreters continues to grow in China The breakthrough in artificial intelligence which has contributed to an enormous improvement in the quality of machine translation means challenges and opportunities for translators and interpreters as well as studies of translation and interpreting Studies of translation and interpreting have been further expanded and diversified in the era of globalized communications The interrelation between translation and globalization is essential reading for not only scholars and educators but also anyone with an interest in translation and interpreting studies or a concern for the future of our world's languages and cultures By focusing on the connection between the two various researches have been conducted in all forms of communication between languages including translation interpreting cross cultural communication language teaching and the various specializations involved in such activities This has resulted in The Third International Conference on Globalization Challenges for Translators and Interpreters co organized by the School of Translation Studies Jinan University on its Zhuhai campus and South China Business College Guangdong University of Foreign Studies November 16 17 2019 The response to the conference was once more overwhelming which was partly attributed to the previous two conferences held successfully under the same title Apart from five keynote speakers over one hundred and fifty participants came from universities institutions or organizations from mainland China Spain New Zealand as well as Hong Kong and Macao to attend the event contributing over 130 papers in total Among the keynote speakers are internationally renowned scholars in translation studies such as Dr Roberto Valde n professor of English Linguistics at the University of Oviedo Spain and the Chief Editor of Perspective Studies in Translatology Dr Sun Yifeng chair professor of Translation Studies and head of the English Department at the University of Macau Dr Tan Zaixi distinguished professor of Shenzhen University and Chair Professor of Beijing Foreign Studies University and Professor Emeritus of Hong Kong Baptist University After careful evaluation and compilation 90 papers have been selected for this conference proceedings which was summarized into the following four topics Translation and Interpreting Theory and Practice Translation and Cross cultural Studies Evaluation of Translation and

Interpretation and Studies on the Teaching of Translation By no means is it difficult to find some interesting and thought provoking papers under each topic For example concerning Translation and Interpreting Theory and Practice To Translate or not to Translate That is the Question On Metaphor Translation in Chinese Political works by Dong Yu explains that in judging whether or not a Chinese metaphor can be translated into English an indispensable step is to decide whether or not the two cultural connotations can be connected But this can easily be influenced by subjective factors Yu has suggested some ways in which subjective factors could be controlled to some extent so that the translator could be more confident in his or her decision He has also suggested three steps The first step is to assume that the cultural connotation of the Chinese metaphor can be connected with that of its English version For example the metaphor in could be translated as rain or shine The second step is to find out whether or not this translated version is acceptable both linguistically and culturally in English The third step is to consider the systematicity of the metaphor in regard with the context in both the source and target texts This involves a process of recontextualization When it comes to Translation and Cross cultural Studies On Translation of the English Guide interpreter from the Perspective of Intercultural Communication by Fengxia Liua and Xiaoning Bi points out that inbound tourism serves as a window through which foreign tourists get to know China so the interaction between the guide interpreters and foreign tourists are the typical activity of cultural communication Foreign language speaking guides are usually regarded as people to people ambassadors or cultural ambassadors who have played an essential role in the international tourist industry Therefore they argue that it is extremely important for tourist guides to cultivate their cross cultural communication awareness enhance their overall communicative competence observe and distinguish east and west differences with multi dimensional perspective transcend cultural barriers and learn to use translation skills Studies on the Teaching of Translation is another interesting topic that has attracted enormous attention such as Business Translation Teaching from the Perspective of Metaphors by Dandan Li which explores application of conceptual metaphor theory in the translation process of business lexicons business discourse and business English culture so as to provide a new perspective in business English pedagogy Another study entitled Cognitive Studies in Translation by Xin Huang analyzes the cognitive studies of translation interpreting processes over the past three decades with focus on the issues examined the findings reached as well as the recent development She explains that cognitive studies of translation process examine the translation competence on line translation behaviors such as how the eye gazes and how the words are typed and the brain activities when doing translation Special interests are paid to the working memory problem solving the executive function and some linguistic relative factors such as text difficulty Over the past thirty years the interest in the field has been gaining considerable momentum and increasing issues have been involved Finally she concludes that with the advancement of technologies and interdisciplinary approaches the black box the previously unforeseeable cognitive activities of how human process translation can be unfolded Considering the importance of integrating theory with practice the proceedings are therefore compiled in such a way as to be balanced and inclusive in the hope of summarizing current accomplishments as well as providing certain insights for teaching and further research in the field of translation and interpretation studies

New Insights into Arabic Translation and Interpreting Mustapha Taibi, 2016-04-14 This book addresses translation and interpreting with Arabic either as a source or target language. It focuses on new fields of study and professional practice such as community translation and interpreting and offers fresh insights into the relationship between culture translation and interpreting. Chapters discuss issues relating specifically to Arabic and the Arab cultural context and contribute views, research findings and applications that come from a language combination and a cultural background quite different from traditional Eurocentric theoretical and professional positions. This volume is a significant addition to resources on Arabic translation and interpreting and contributes fresh perspectives to translation studies in general. It is of interest to students, researchers and professionals working in public service, community, legal, administrative and healthcare translation and interpreting as well as intercultural communication and translator education. Arabic Translation Across Discourses Said Faiq, 2019-06-13 A rare contribution to global translation as a cross-cultural open concept. Arabic Translation Across Discourses provides explorations of Arabic translation as an instance of transcultural and translingual encounters transculturating. This book examines the application and interrogation of discourses of translation in the translation of discourses, religion, literature, media, politics, technology, community, audiovisual and automated systems of communication for translation. The contributors provide insights into the concerns and debates of Arabic translation as a tradition with local yet global dimensions of translation and intercultural studies. This volume will be of great interest to students and researchers of all translation studies but will also provide a rich source for those studying and researching history, geopolitics, intercultural studies, globalization and allied disciplines. Medio-translatology Feng Cui, Defeng Li, 2022-04-24 This book introduces the theory of Medio-translatology proposed by Professor Tianzhen Xie. Medio-translatology combines comparative literature with translation studies. It has been influential in Chinese Translation Studies since its emergence in the 1990s and has since generated a myriad of heated discussions and productive applications of the theory in the analysis of translation both as an activity and a product. With ten chapters authored by leading scholars in this area, this book explicates the development and the main theoretical tenets of Medio-translatology in the first part and demonstrates the application of the theory with a number of case analyses of translations by different translators in the second part. As the first and only edited book on Medio-translatology written in English, this volume will also provide a useful window on contemporary translation studies in China.

World Englishes, Global Classrooms Kirsten Hemmby, Chandrika Balasubramanian, 2022-12-14 This book provides a critical overview of contemporary world issues in Language and Literary Studies. It offers specific ideas as to how to move away from the traditional literary canon on the one hand and traditional native speaker norms in English language teaching on the other. It delivers a global perspective of both the growth and the challenges in ELT studies around the world. Following the introduction the first section of the book contains chapters from international scholars on recognizing and diversifying Englishes in today's language and translation classrooms Specifically the chapters focus on issues such as the cultural hegemony of a monolithic English English and university pedagogy English as a gatekeeper and the role of a reconceived English education in promoting cross cultural understanding The second section focuses on the interaction of literature and culture with specific chapters focusing on decolonizing the traditional literary canon defining a global text representing cultural interactions in literary texts and emerging genres in contemporary English literature Both sections of the book question the existing boundaries in a post 2020 world specifically in a non western world It is an indispensable resource for scholars in cultural studies linguistics and literary studies

Cultural Encounters in Translated Children's Literature Helen

Frank,2014-04-08 Cultural Encounters in Translated Children's Literature offers a detailed and innovative model of analysis for examining the complexities of translating children's literature and sheds light on the interpretive choices at work in moving texts from one culture to another The core of the study addresses the issue of how images of a nation locale or country are constructed in translated children's literature with the translation of Australian children's fiction into French serving as a case study Issues examined include the selection of books for translation the relationship between children's books and the national and international publishing industry the packaging of translations and the importance of titles blurbs and covers the linguistic and stylistic features specific to translating for children intertextual references the function of the translation in the target culture didactic and pedagogical aims euphemistic language and explicitation and literariness in translated texts The findings of the case study suggest that the most common constructs of Australia in French translations reveal a preponderance of traditional Eurocentric signifiers that identify Australia with the outback the antipodes the exotic the wild the unknown the void the end of the world the young and innocent nation and the Far West Contemporary signifiers that construct Australia as urban multicultural Aboriginal world and inharmonious are seriously under represented The study also shows that French translations are conventional conservative and didactic showing preference for an exotic rather than local specificity with systematic manipulation of Australian referents betraying a perception of Australia as antipodean rural exoticism The significance of the study lies in underscoring the manner in which a given culture is constructed in another cultural milieu especially through translated children's literature

Contextualizing Translation Theories Ali Almann, 2015-09-10 Contextualizing Translation Theories Aspects of Arabic English Interlingual Communication provides critical readings of available strategies of translating ranging from the familiar concept of equivalence to strategies of modulation domestication foreignization and mores of translation As such this volume demonstrates to the reader the pros and cons of each of these strategies within a theoretical context that is augmented by translational tasks and examples most derived from actual textual data

Gems of Exquisite Beauty Peter Jameson Mercer-Taylor, 2020 In the antebellum period most Americans first encountered European classical music through hundreds of hymn tunes that tapped into classical melodies This book is the first in depth study of the rise and fall of these popular but largely overlooked adaptations and their place in nineteenth century American musical life

Translated People, Translated Texts Tina Steiner, 2014-04-08 Translated People Translated Texts examines contemporary migration narratives by four African writers who live in the diaspora and write in English Leila Aboulela and Jamal Mahjoub from the Sudan now living in Scotland and Spain respectively and Abdulrazak Gurnah and Moyez G Vassanji from Tanzania now residing in the UK and Canada Focusing on how language operates in relation to both culture and identity Steiner foregrounds the complexities of migration as cultural translation Cultural translation is a concept which locates itself in postcolonial literary theory as well as translation studies The manipulation of English in such a way as to signify translated experience is crucial in this regard The study focuses on a particular angle on cultural translation for each writer under discussion translation of Islam and the strategic use of nostalgia in Leila Aboulela's texts translation and the production of scholarly knowledge in Jamal Mahjoub's novels translation and storytelling in Abdulrazak Gurnah's fiction and translation between the individual and old and new communities in Vassanji's work Translated People Translated Texts makes a significant contribution to our understanding of migration as a common condition of the postcolonial world and offers a welcome insight into particular travellers and their unique translations birth of Islam to the present time The set also includes 16 pages of color images per volume that serve to illustrate the diverse expressions of this important religious tradition Each entry begins with a basic introduction followed by a general discussion of the subject and a conclusion Each entry also features a further readings list for readers In addition to supplying a comprehensive authoritative overview of Islam this work also specifically addresses many controversial related issues including jihad violence in Islam polygamy and apostasy

Politics, Policy and Power in Translation History Lieven D'hulst, Carol O'Sullivan, Michael Schreiber, 2016-09-09 The contributions in this book are partly based on papers given at the 7th congress of the European Society for Translation Studies held at the University of Mainz in Germersheim For this publication all papers have undergone a review process In order to illustrate the variety of contents and approaches involved in the concepts of translation policy and politics the chapters are organised thematically rather than chronologically The objective in doing so was to show how policies influence a wide array of discursive practices The first group of articles is concerned with the policy of translating and interpreting in power settings A second group deals with translation policies as applied to a wide corpus of literary texts A third group is devoted to the policies of media translation

Arab News and Conflict Samia Bazzi, 2009-10-22 The Arab Israeli struggle is not only a struggle over land but a struggle over language representations Arab reporters as well as politicians believe that their political discourses about the Middle East conflict are objective accurate and credible Arab News and Conflict critically examines the role of language in the representations of events and ideologies found in news media Drawing on socio political linguistic approaches combined with real case studies the author offers a unique discourse analysis model for analysing politically sensitive language in the media The focus in this study is on the Arab media discourse in times of conflict with Israel and the US spanning the years 2001 to 2009 Using rich examples from outspoken Arab media outlets the study explores ideological and language facts about the Arab Israeli conflict This book is compelling reading for students and researchers of media and cultural studies discourse analysis and sociolinguistics and translation It is of equal interest to political analysts political speakers journalists and news editors who need to understand more about the ideological function of the language they use or the political journalistic linguistic nexus of power

A King Translated Astrid Stilma, 2016-03-23 King James is well known as the most prolific writer of all the Stuart monarchs publishing works on numerous topics and issues These works were widely read not only in Scotland and England but also on the Continent where they appeared in several translations In this book Dr Stilma looks both at the domestic and international context to James's writings using as a case study a set of Dutch translations which includes his religious meditations his epic poem The Battle of Lepanto his treatise on witchcraft Daemonologie and his manual on kingship Basilikon Doron The book provides an examination of James's writings within their original Scottish context particularly their political implications and their role in his management of his religious political reputation both at home and abroad The second half of each chapter is concerned with contemporary interpretations of these works by James's readers The Dutch translations are presented as a case study of an ultra protestant and anti Spanish reading from which James emerges as a potential leader of protestant Europe a reputation he initially courted then distanced himself from after his accession to the English throne in 1603 In so doing this book greatly adds to our appreciation of James as an author providing an exploration of his works as politically expedient statements which were sometimes ambiguous enough to allow diverging and occasionally unwelcome interpretations It is one of the few studies of James to offer a sustained critical reading of these texts together with an exploration of the national and international context in which they were published and read As such this book contributes to the understanding not only of James s works as political tools but also of the preoccupations of publishers and translators and the interpretative spaces in the works they were making available to an international audience Literary
