Transfiguration Craft Ideas:

Transfiguration Stephen Cheeke, 2016 Transfiguration explores the work of John Ruskin Robert Browning Dante Gabriel Rossetti and Walter Pater treating in particular the ways in which they engaged with the Christian content of their subject and in Pater's case how the art of Christianity was contrasted with classical sculpture Stephen Cheeke examines two related phenomena idolatry a false substitution a sexual betrayal and the poetics of transfiguration to elevate or glorify subject matter not thought of as conventionally poetic to praise Central to the book is the question of the translation of religion into art and aesthetics a process which supposedly undergirds the advent of the museum age and makes possible the idea of a religion of art as a phenomenon of late century Aestheticism Such a phenomenon is prepared for however through the engagement with Christian painting and classical sculpture in the work of these four writers All four thought carefully about the ways in which a particular mimetic impulse of making live in artworks could be connected to religious experience This meant exploring the nature of the link between seeing and believing visualising in order to conceive to verify but also in the sense of being acted upon by the visible All four wrote about the great power of artworks to transfigure the objects of their attention In each case there emerges the possibility of a secret sexual knowledge hiding within or lying on the other side of the sensuous knowledge of aesthesis All four wondered whether this was inherently hostile to Christianity or whether it may finally be an accommodation within it

The Transfiguration of the Commonplace Arthur C. Danto, 1981 Danto argues that recent developments in art in particular the production of works that cannot be told from ordinary things make urgent the need for a new theory of art He demonstrates the relationship between philosophy and art and the connections that hold between art social institutions and art history
