Typically working in an emergency department, Trauma Nurses are expected to be proactive workers and effective communicators, ready to receive and treat any patient brought in by emergency transport. Due to the fragility of critical patients, Trauma Nurses need to be proficient in a variety of advanced life support and medically stabilizing skills.

What's the Demand for Trauma Nurses?

According to the CDC, injury is the leading cause of death between the ages of one to 44. These injuries can be accidental, like from a car crash, self-inflicted, or the result of acts of violence. Because of this they are constantly needed to provide lifesaving care to high-risk individuals.

How do you become a Trauma Nurse?

Before earning your certification as a Trauma Nurse, you must first earn an Associate's (ADN) or Bachelor's (BSN) in the Science of Nursing. After earning your degree and passing the NCLEX-RN, you'll be required to complete two years, with an average of 1,000 dedicated practice hours, in Trauma Nursing.
